VOL. 90. NO. 247.

THREE-BILLION JOB RELIEF BILL BEFORE HOUSE

Committee Estimates in Report That It Will Provide Employment for 4,135,000 Persons.

LEADERS PROPOSE PROMPT PASSAGE

Little Opposition Expected as Debate Begins—Ickes Invites New P W A Loan Applications.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The administration's $3,054,425,000 spending-lending bill will provide jobs for 4,135,000 persons, the House Appropriations Committee estimated today in a report recommending enactment of the bill, submitted shortly before the House began debate on the measure.

House passage of the measure became the immediate goal of administration leaders, intent on adjournment by mid-June. The bill provoked little opposition outside Republican ranks.

While the debate was in progress, Secretary Ickes threw open his office to new applications under the proposed new $1,465,000,000 public works program which the bill would institute. "He directed P W A regional offices to notify municipalities and other public bodies that they might now submit new applications for projects. These would be in addition to the 2714 projects already filed and approved by P W A but for which the bill would make available until the spending-lending bill passes.

Associates said Ickes was so sure Congress would adopt the new program that he felt justified in starting work on applications at once, although no legal authority for it existed.

The new bill proposes $965,000,000 for P W A loans and grants, of which $215,000,000 would be loans and $750,000,000 would go for grants. In addition, P W A would be authorized to sell up to $1,000,000 of bonds to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to establish a revolving fund from which it could make loans.

"Designed as an Opiate." In debate, Representative Taber (Rep., New York), ranking minority member of the Appropriations Committee, told the House the program "appeared designed as an opiate," and then shouted: "It seems to have been intended to keep the people fooled until after the next elections."

Taber evoked applause from members and the galleries when he urged that expenditure of relief funds be turned back to non-partisan boards in the local communities to "cut out a lot of this waste."

Contending that, as a general principle, the country "should have had off as when we started spending money," Republican Leader Charles McNary (Rep., Oregon), who also asked Woodrum (Dem., Virginia), the bill's floor manager, whether he could endorse a shot in the arm.

"Whether it's a shot in the arm, a slap in the back, or a kick in the pants, if it starts things going again, it is worth the cost," the Virginian replied.

Six Years of Spending. The (Rep., Michigan), accused the administration of "defeating" the country by "spending money" serving over to the 1932 Socialist party platform and demanded that business be let alone. Copies of his address were distributed by the Republican National Committee. He said that in six years under President Roosevelt, the Government had spent a sum that equals nearly 44 per cent of the expenditures for the first 144 years of the nation's history, including the cost of the World War and four other conflicts.

He said it ought to be apparent to everyone that the national debt could not be raised from 40 billion dollars to 50 billion dollars to 100 billion dollars by Government spending.

"The only way it can be done is by giving business and private enterprise a chance," he declared. "I am more firmly convinced than ever that to continue that spending program further will mean national disaster."

Emergency employment under Federal programs totaled $124,919 on April 16. The new program, therefore, would create 1,010,000 new jobs if the committee estimate proves correct.

The primary purpose of the legislation, the report said, is to furnish "direct employment on the spot and indirect employment away from the site of work, for some of the many millions who are unemployed and destitute or harassed by the specters that haunt the door-step of that too large unfortunate group."

COURT RULES N L R B ORDER TENDS TO DEFEAT PURPOSE

U. S. Judges Refuse Enforcement Writ Against Thompson Products Co. of Cleveland.

By the Associated Press. COVINGTON, Ky., May 10.—The U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals declared today a National Labor Relations Board order against the Thompson Products Co. "tends to destroy the purpose of the Labor Relations Act and to promote discord among employers and employees, instead of harmonious and joint discussion of their difficulties."

The court refused an enforcement order against the Cleveland motor accessories concern. The opinion, by Judge Elwood Hamilton, said the board's findings were "not sustained by substantial evidence."

The board last August directed the company to reinstate three employees and cease repeated opposition to the United Automobile Workers of America, a CIO affiliate.

The NLRB suffered a reversal yesterday in a similar case. The court blocked the board's efforts to withdraw the record of the Ford Motor Co. case, and ruled the record should be made a part of the company's suit to set aside the contested NLRB decision against Ford.

WOMAN LEAPS OFF DOCK INTO MISSISSIPPI RIVER

Purse Identified as Mrs. Dorothy Gower's; Note Says 'I've Decided to End It All.'

A woman who leaped into the Mississippi River from the abandoned city garbage dock at the foot of Chouteau avenue at 9:50 a. m. today, left behind a purse which was identified as the property of Mrs. Dorothy Gower, 41 years old, 1703 A. Park avenue.

Two employees of a grain elevator reported they saw the woman jump off the dock and disappear in the river. Her purse was identified by Mrs. Rose Rasmussen, of the Park avenue address, as belonging to her sister, Mrs. Gower.

She turned over to police a note which she said she found after her sister left home today. It stated: "I have decided to end it all. I have always been a failure. I blame no one but myself for this." Mrs. Gower, a janitress, had been in ill-health, police were told. The body was not recovered.

THREE CHILDREN SMOTHERED TO DEATH IN OLD ICE BOX

Door Believed to Have Slammed Shut When They Were at Play; Parents Find Bodies.

By the Associated Press. VERSAILLES, Ill., May 10.—A large unused wooden refrigerator was a death trap for three children late yesterday afternoon.

The children were found dead in the old icebox last night when the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Petri, returned to their home in the Illinois River bottoms near Chambersburg. A search was unsuccessful until the actions of a dog, which could not be chased from the box's vicinity, attracted attention.

Opening the door, the parents found Emma, 10 years old, Henry, 8, and Alberta, 5, smothered to death. The two little girls were cramped in the food compartment. The boy was in the ice chamber.

Officials said they believed the children had crawled into the box to hide while playing and the door had slammed shut behind them.

72 MINERS KILLED BY EXPLOSIONS IN ENGLISH COLLIERY

More Than 40 Injured by Two Violent Gas Blasts in Workings in Derbyshire.

NIGHT SHIFT CAUGHT AS IT IS LEAVING PIT

Second Detonation Occurs While Those Injured in First Are Being Removed.

By the Associated Press. DUCKMANTON, Derbyshire, England, May 10.—Seventy-two miners were killed, and more than 40 were injured early today by two violent gas explosions in the Markham coal mine. At first it was believed other miners had been trapped but later all were accounted for.

The first explosion, in a shale seam 2550 feet deep, occurred about 6 a. m. as the night shift was preparing to leave the mine. A dull rumbling was followed by flashes of flame and clouds of dust.

The second blast occurred shortly after 8 a. m., while the injured from the first explosion were being removed.

Rescue workers, stripped to the waist, fought through roof falls to bring out bodies. Police broadcast a call for oxygen.

Rescuers, with gas masks, sealed up one section of the pit to prevent gas from seeping through.

The explosions spread grief through the little village of Duckmanton, a cluster of red brick cottages lying some distance from the mine.

Sobbing women gathered around the pithead as the dead and injured were brought to the surface. In a mortuary wives and other relatives sought to identify the bodies, marked by yellow tags.

The colliery is one of three owned by the Staveley Coal and Iron Co. An explosion in one of the mines in January, 1937, killed nine men.

In London, Capt. H. F. S. Crookshank, Minister for Mines, informed the House of Commons of the disaster.

Through coincidence, the question of danger from explosions in mines was up before Commons. Ellis Smith, Laborite, had asked what was being done to prevent repetition of such blasts as the one last July at the Brymbo coal mine at Stoke-on-Trent when 27 miners lost their lives.

U. S. S. POTOMAC TO TAKE ROOSEVELT TO SON'S WEDDING

Vessel to Be Anchored Off Nahant, Mass., Where Ceremony Will Take Place June 18.

By the Associated Press. LYNN, Mass., May 10.—Mayor J. Fred Manning received word today that President Roosevelt would come to his son John's wedding, June 18, aboard the U. S. S. Potomac.

A telegram to the Mayor from Representative Lawrence J. Conner (Dem., Massachusetts), quoted James Roosevelt, John's older brother, as saying the Potomac would anchor off nearby Nahant, where the wedding will take place, and that the President would reach the town directly from the vessel.

The message also said the President would accept no invitations to other functions during his visit.

PAYS $1 TO LEND U. S. $10,000

Man Takes Small Part of $50,000, 000 Offering.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, May 10.—The Treasury discovered today a citizen who not only wants to lend money to the Government but is willing to pay the Government to take it.

This man, whose name was not disclosed, offered $10,000 for a $10,000 loan bill, part of the Treasury's weekly $50,000,000 offering. Officials said he probably wanted to get the $10,000 into non-taxable Federal securities. His offer was accepted. Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau reported that the $50,000,000 issue was taken up at the lowest average interest rate ever attained—0.029 per cent.

FATHER COX SAYS, 'PROMOTERS GOT EVERYTHING I HAD'

Priest, Testifying at Lottery Trial, Asserts They Then Tried to Borrow on His Security.

DENIES HE KNEW ABOUT WIN SHEETS

Pastor Relates He Was Persuaded to Write Two $5000 Checks, "When I Didn't Have Anything."

Special to the Post-Dispatch. PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 10.—The promoters of the "Monastery Garden Stakes" got everything he had and wanted more, the Rev. James R. Cox testified in the United States District Court today.

He said they importuned him for money and checks until he finally had given them all he owned and hadn't a cent left. Then, he said, they tried to borrow on his security.

It started, he testified at his trial with four other men on charges of fraud and of using the mails to further a lottery, with a $5000 check he gave to Arthur G. Wicks, office manager of the contest, for "operating expenses."

Then, after the contest had collapsed financially, they came to his office and told him they had gathered up almost enough money to pay the prizes, he said.

"Thomas A. Harkins, Wicks, and Sam Elcock came to my office. They had a number of checks, and they said they had the money," Father Cox testified.

"They said to me, 'With your money, we'll have enough to pay the awards.' They told me not to put the checks through the bank right away, but they said, 'We'll make them good.'"

When Father Cox said he made out his own check for $5122, all he had in the bank, and cashed it.

Promoters' Checks "Not Good." In the meantime, "As evidence," he testified, he discovered that the other checks were "not good." On Christmas eve, he said, Wicks and Harkins came to his office and wanted their checks back.

"They said they would make them good," he testified. "I gave them a check for $5122, and they said they would make them good. They asked me to give them my money so they could show it to their friends."

"I said to them, 'Take your checks,' and I gave my $5122 to Wicks."

At that meeting, Father Cox said, he first saw the receipt for $25,000, already signed by Wicks and Harkins. At 1 o'clock in the morning, he said, his chauffeur, John Obermeyer, came to him and said: "Here is a receipt Wicks and Harkins gave me to take to Clifford (E. J. Clifford, a promoter) at his hotel."

Father Cox said he replied: "I don't want the receipt. It's not any good." He testified: "I tore it up."

The next approach, he said, was made by Clifford.

"Clifford told me that he and J. C. Pierman and the other promoters had to secure $25,000 for prize money," he testified.

"Clifford said he had a friend in Florida and might be able to borrow the money. The friend was J. C. Gratten. Clifford said to me, 'Give me two $5000 checks for security. Gratten won't believe me.'"

At this point Father Cox's voice rose in indignation, and his counsel, O. K. Heston, cautioned him against excitement.

Father Cox continued: "I was fearful. I didn't want to write them. I didn't have anything. But Clifford said he wouldn't cash them. I made him write on the stubs that he wouldn't, and we dated them Dec. 24, 1937, because Clifford said they would have the money for the prizes then."

In the meantime, said Father Cox, he telephoned to his attorney, Henry Ellenbogen, then a Congressman, now a Judge, and Ellenbogen told him to have the money placed in escrow.

A meeting with Ellenbogen followed, on Dec. 28. Ellenbogen repeated his advice, Father Cox testified, and Harkins said: "It may be too late."

At this, he said, Ellenbogen shouted: "What have you already paid some money?"

Harkins said he thought not, and Ellenbogen said: "Don't you dare, until the Government decides."

Meanwhile, said Father Cox, a win sheet had been prepared and prizes had been paid, and did not know how the win sheets were made until he saw them in the newspaper. He said he saw the allegedly fictitious win sheets on Jan. 3, and added, "the names didn't mean a thing."

TWO ST. LOUIS U. STUDENTS KILLED IN HIGHWAY CRASH

Lawrence E. Tex and Daniel Fox Crushed When Auto Smashes Into Stalled Truck at Night.

Lawrence E. Tex and Daniel Fox, sophomore students at the St. Louis University School of Medicine, were killed early today when a light coupe in which they were riding crashed at high speed into the rear end of a stalled transport truck on Illinois Highway 48, three miles southwest of Morrisville and about 75 miles northeast of St. Louis.

The classmates, both 25 years old, were returning to St. Louis from an afternoon and evening visit to the parents of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Fox of Taylorville, Ill.

Christian County authorities told a Post-Dispatch reporter that the driver of the heavy truck, Charles C. Hunter, 4428 St. Louis avenue, had set out flares and a fuse when his engine stalled, leaving his truck, loaded with nine tons of steel, on the highway.

Hunter said that he was working on the engine when the coupe struck his truck. The smaller automobile was wedged under the truck body and a fuse when the engine stalled, crushing both occupants, who were dead when removed. The truck had to be jacked up before the coupe could be disengaged. The crash occurred at 12:20 a. m.

Fox was a resident of Kenton, O. He and Tex, both residents of the Phi Chi fraternity house at 3815 Botanical avenue, completed their final oral examinations yesterday morning and decided to make a quick visit to Tex's home. For the trip they borrowed the automobile of John A. Berg, a fraternity brother.

Tex is survived by his parents and a brother, Fox by his mother, Mrs. D. C. Fox of Kenton, and a sister.

REXFORD, N. Y., POLICE DRAG RIVER FOR WOMAN'S BODY

Two Legs and Arm Found, Are Believed to Be Those of Murder Victim.

REXFORD, N. Y., May 10.—State police began dragging the Mohawk River, near here, today for the body of a woman, thought to have been murdered and thrown into the water.

The action was taken after the finding of two legs and an arm near here within a week. The second leg was discovered yesterday. Pathologists at the State police laboratory in Schenectady believe the three members were severed from the same body.

CZECHS BAR VIENNA PAPERS

Six, Which Have Attacked Praha Government, Under Two-Year Ban. PRAHA, Czechoslovakia, May 10.—The Czechoslovak Government yesterday barred six leading Vienna newspapers from circulation in Czechoslovakia for the duration of two years.

While no reason was given officially, informed circles said the action was due to continued attacks which Austrian papers have made on the Czechoslovak Government concerning its treatment of the Sudeten German and other minorities within the nation.

$10,000,000 IN MUNITIONS SENT TO ORIENT IN 5 MONTHS

American Shipments to China Totaled $5,296,000; to Japan, $4,758,000.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, May 10.—American shipments of war materials to China and Japan exceeded $10,000,000 in the five months ended April 30, State Department records showed today. The rate was far in excess of last year.

The new figures began with Dec. 1, the start of the fiscal year adopted by the National Munitions Control Board, which licenses munitions shipments.

During the five months shipments to China totaled $5,296,000 and to Japan $4,758,000. In the last fiscal year shipments to China were $3,328,210 and to Japan $1,773,942. Airplanes and airplane motors were in greatest demand. A large item of Chinese purchases embraced grenades, bombs and ammunition. Japan's purchases were almost entirely air equipment.

SINGERS ILL, COVENT GARDEN CALLS ON BERLIN FOR HELP

Lotte Lehmann and Richard Tauber Develop Allments—Others Brought in by Plane.

By the Associated Press. LONDON, May 10.—The Covent Garden opera management, beset by the illness of singing stars, found it necessary to call Tiana Lemnitz and Marie Louise Schlip by airplane from Berlin today to assist in carrying out a program change.

After the illness of Lotte Lehmann on May 4, Richard Tauber developed throat trouble and was unable to sing in the "Abduction of the Seraglio," scheduled for tonight.

A performance of "Der Rosenkavalier" will be substituted, giving Mme. Lehmann, who has recovered, an opportunity to assume the role of the Princess of Werderberg.

The soprano broke off her song when she became ill in performing the same role May 4.

MENHIN TO MARRY DAUGHTER OF AUSTRALIAN MILLIONAIRE

Violinist Announces Engagement in London, Where Wedding Will Take Place This Month.

By the Associated Press. LONDON, May 10.—Yehudi Menuhin, 21-year-old violinist, announced his engagement today to Nola Nicholas, 19, daughter of an Australian millionaire.

Menuhin said he and Miss Nicholas would marry at a London Registry Office before May 27. Then, he said, they would sail for the United States to settle on his Los Gatos ranch in the Santa Cruz Mountains, California.

Miss Nicholas is the daughter of George R. Nicholas, a Melbourne maker of aspirin. She first saw Yehudi across the footlights when he was on an Australian tour in 1935. They met again here a few weeks ago.

A. F. OF L. PUTS JOBLESS AGAIN AT LEVEL OF 1935

Total for March, 1938, Is 11,332,000; Previous Year, Same Month, 8,604,000.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, May 10.—American Federation of Labor officers said today that unemployment had increased to about the level of 1935.

Figures for March in the last four years as compiled by the federation are: 1934, 11,332,000; 1935, 8,604,000; 1936, 10,452,000; 1937, 11,332,000. The A. F. of L. figure for March, 1938, described by the official as being "only a rough estimate" was 15,100,000.

PRECINCT CAPTAIN TESTIFIES AGAINST MRS. RYAN AND AID

George S. Hayde Says Vote Totals Were Predetermined in Kansas City Woman Boss' Ward.

By SPENCER R. McULLOCH, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 10.—A Pendergast precinct captain turned on his ward boss in United States District Court today and gave an amazing circumstantial account of how he was ordered to put on "pads, ghosts and sleepers" in the second precinct of the Twelfth Ward at the last national election.

The witness, George S. Hayde, who resigned his precinct captaincy and city job two months ago and pleaded guilty of conspiracy to corrupt the ballot, testified in the fifteenth vote fraud trial against the two remaining defendants, Mrs. Frances S. Ryan, the Pendergast boss of the Twelfth Ward, and her loyal assistant committeeman, Matt Devos.

The Government rested its case at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon in the fifteenth vote fraud trial in United States District Court upon completion of Hayde's testimony.

Judge Merrill E. Oils quickly overruled the usual defense motions for directed verdicts of acquittal and a plea of abatement, based on the contention that Mrs. Ryan was placed in double jeopardy.

Bruce Barrett, of defense counsel, then made an opening statement asserting that Mrs. Ryan was not a "political boss" but a ward committeewoman elected by the people. He tried to make it appear that Devos issued only legitimate election-day instructions, including an order not to drink at the polls.

Hayde testified, in effect, that the election totals were predetermined.

Began With Registration. Hayde, the principal Government witness, testified the fraud began with the September registration.

He quoted Mrs. Ryan and Devos as telling a meeting of precinct captains to "get the voters on the books because elections are won at registrations."

Hayde said he registered about 50 "spooks, sleepers and pads" from his precinct with the connivance of friendly officials who served again at the November election. A "sleeper," he said, was a voter whose name was kept on the books after he moved from the precinct.

Prior to the election, he said, there was a series of meetings at the Twelfth Ward Democratic Club addressed by Mrs. Ryan and Devos, whom he designated as her representative and, as such, to be obeyed.

At the general meetings of voters, Hayde said, there would be speeches about "building up the ward organization and getting out the vote," but then the 23 precinct captains would be directed to remain, he said, and be told by Devos to "carry out instructions or turn in your books." They knew what that meant, he said.

Devos, the witness said, told him he would "have to write in the spooks and pads," that no one would be sent from the club. It was his recollection that Devos and Mrs. Ryan wanted the ward totals to be 15,100,000.

JAPANESE SHELL AMOY, LAND FORCE TO TAKE CITY

12 Warships Attack Port of Fukien Province in South China; Relays of Planes Bombard It Throughout Day.

MUCH OF NATIVE SECTION IN FLAMES

Severe Fighting Between Garrison and Invaders, Who Report the Capture of Eastern Half of Island.

By the Associated Press. SHANGHAI, May 10.—The Japanese bombed Amoy, chief port of the southern province of Fukien, from the sea and air today, and announced their intention to occupy the city.

Dispatches said a Japanese naval force landed after heavy bombardment by 12 warships and relays of planes. The invaders came to grips at once with the Chinese garrison. Japanese planes dropped leaflets on Kulangsu Island, Amoy's foreign settlement, urging foreign residents and vessels to leave the port. The leaflets promised that rights and interests of neutral Powers would be safeguarded.

Aerial bombing lasted throughout the day, and the University of Amoy, one of the most modern institutions in China, was reported damaged.

Fire spread through the Chinese city, and Chungshan road was thronged with frightened Chinese seeking to reach the International Settlement.

Heavy Fighting in Native City. Japanese military headquarters in Shanghai said the eastern half of Amoy Island had been captured and severe fighting was in progress for the native city of Amoy, which occupies the western half of the island. The Japanese said much of the city was burning.

Chinese dispatches to Hongkong said more than 100 Japanese were killed and 75 captured when a landing unit of 600 was repulsed by an ambush of the defenders.

The normal foreign population of Kulangsu, or Drum Waves, Island, is about 250. Amoy, 250,000 population, 620 miles down the coast from Shanghai, is the gateway to Fukien, population 15,000,000. Amoy is 150 miles across Formosa Strait and opposite Japan's island of Formosa.

Kulangsu Island, about three miles in circumference, lies across the harbor from Amoy Island. Fifteen American gunboats, the U. S. S. Consul Leland C. Altshoff, and missionaries of the Reformed and Seventh Day Adventist churches, were known to be there.

Japan's thrust into South China was believed to be designed to draw some Chinese reinforcements from the deadlocked Central China front or prevent sending southern reinforcements to the north.

Ningpo, another important port south of Shanghai, was endangered by the advance of a Japanese column across Chekiang Province. This force, which captured Shaoxing yesterday, was reported driving eastward south of the Chien-tang River.

Japanese Gain in Central China. On the Central China front, three Japanese columns driving from the south were said to be continuing their advance toward the vital Lunghai Railway. Five new divisions were reported on their way from Japan to reinforce the stalled offensive in South Shantung, north of the railway.

Foreign military observers expressed the belief the Shantung fighting would remain deadlocked until the invaders could organize a new offensive when the fresh troops arrived.

Chinese confirmed reports that the right column of the northward Japanese drive had captured Fowning, 60 miles from the Eastern end of the Lunghai line. Independent stories said this advance along the railway to Suchow, 50 miles to the west, where the Lunghai crosses the north-south Tientsin-Pukow line.

CHINA AGAIN ASKS LEAGUE FOR AID AGAINST JAPAN

Dr. Koo Tells Council Only One Nation Has Fulfilled Resolutions for Individual Help.

WANTS COVENANT'S PROVISIONS APPLIED

Ethiopians Win Delay on Proposal to Free Powers of Pledge Not to Recognize Conquest.

By the Associated Press.

GENEVA, May 10.—Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, Chinese delegate to the League of Nations, asked the League Council today to apply provisions of the Covenant in giving China aid against Japan.

He cited two resolutions, one by the League Assembly last October and another by the Council in February, which recommended that League members consider individual aid to China.

"With one exception," he said, "none of the League members has come to China's aid. He did not name the exception country."

"China expects to receive from other members of the League material aid and effective co-operation in restraining the forces of aggression," he declared.

"Co-operation Urgent, He Says." "Such aid and co-operation is more urgent because it will hasten the termination of hostilities and insure the defeat of the forces of disorder and violence."

"In the name of the Government I ask the Council to apply provisions of the Covenant and implement the resolutions of the Assembly and Council with concrete measures."

"By such action, Japanese aggression with all its horrors and cruelties may effectively be brought to an early end and the principles of the League, indispensable for the establishment of durable peace in the world, may be fully vindicated."

After Dr. Koo's speech, the chairman, Wilhelm Munster, Latvian Foreign Minister, asked whether any member had observations to make on the Chinese plea. None replied. Munster decided to defer discussion to a later session.

Delay on Ethiopian Question. Ethiopian delegates fighting against recognition of the Italian conquest of their country won a temporary delay by obtaining postponement until tomorrow of the Council's consideration of recognition.

Delegates of Britain and France, having won general Council approval of Britain's new accord with Italy, had tried to have the recognition question called up at the afternoon session. They favor ending the obligations of League members not to recognize Italy's seizure of Ethiopia.

The "realistic" great Powers were virtually certain to win eventually, for the morning session showed that Viscount Halifax, Britain's Foreign Secretary, and French Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet had the meeting in any hands.

Britain and France already have given assurances they would be freed of the League obligation not to recognize Italy's conquest.

When recognition does come before the Council the Ethiopians are expected to make objections to which would amount to expunging the fallen realm of Haile Selassie from the list of nations and from League membership. After this members of the Council probably will make a series of declarations which will be considered to have freed them from their non-recognition pledges.

It was not expected there would be a vote on the matter or any similar formal League action.

Reservations by Russia. Lord Halifax spoke in praise of the British-Italian accord signed at Rome April 16, and said that Britain, Rumania, Poland and Belgium all expressed approval. Foreign Commissioner Maxim Litvinoff, for Soviet Russia, alone made reservations. He did not mention Spain, but said Russia hoped the British-Italian agreement would not injure the rights and privileges of other nations.

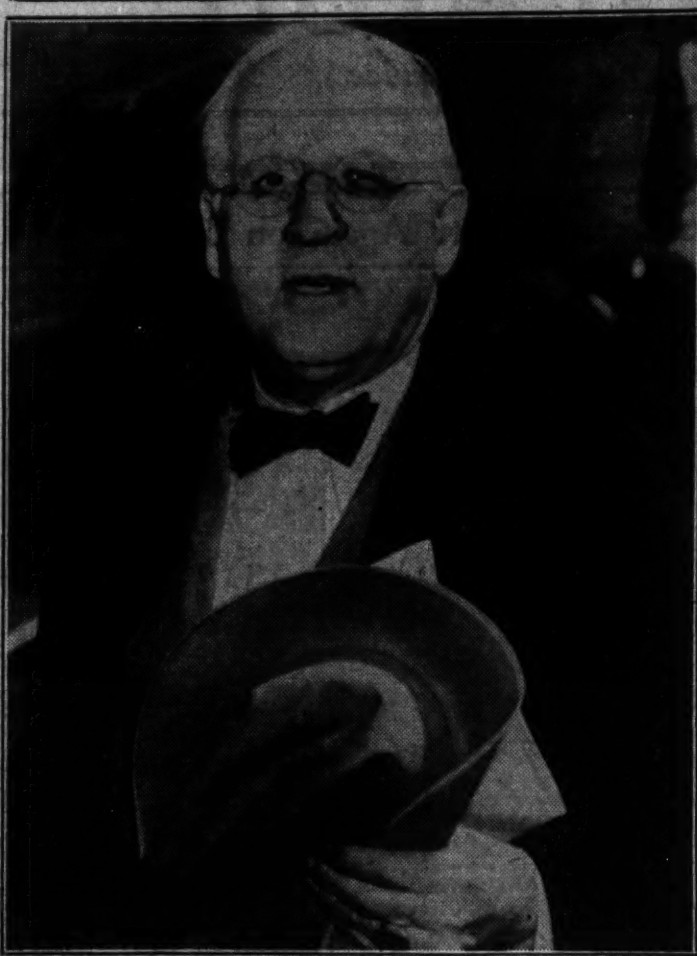

The British Foreign Secretary was followed by Foreign Minister Bonnet of France, who echoed his views in defending the French-Italian agreement which still is under negotiation.

Lord Halifax said the fact that Britain and Italy were able to reach an agreement entitled both to claim a contribution "to the cause of international peace, thereby strengthening the cause which this great society (the League) exists to serve."

Cites Roosevelt Statement. Halifax also cited in defense of the agreement President Roosevelt's statement on the subject which the British Foreign Secretary said was "a gratifying testimony to our common Government."

(President Roosevelt said April 19 that the United States Government viewed conclusion of the agreement "with sympathetic interest because it is proof of the value of peaceful negotiations.") The Spanish Government delegate, Julio Alvarez Del Vayo, bitter over the recent British-Italian agreement and French-Italian negotiations, talked of Italian and German aid to the insurgents in Spain's civil war. Although not on the

Seeking Presidential Pardon

WILLIAM H. MALONE.

FORMER chairman of the Illinois Tax Commission, alighting from an airliner in Washington. He said he would ask President Roosevelt for a pardon from a two-year sentence for income tax evasion.

He was given a seat at today's session because the British-Italian agreement vitally concerns Spain.

Alvarez Del Vayo already has been told that the League's official answer to Spain's complaint against foreign interference would be simply that the non-intervention committee was doing all that could be done. Spanish sources indicated the Spanish delegate planned to have his say and then leave.

Haile Selassie Leaves England for Council Meeting. LONDON, May 10.—Haile Selassie, fallen Emperor of Ethiopia, left Bath, seaside resort where he spends much of his time, for Geneva today to attend the League of Nations Council, which is ready in effect to remove Ethiopia from League membership. A member of his staff accompanied him.

His wife, the Empress Menen, and son, Prince Selassie, have arrived in France. They came from Jerusalem aboard the liner Mariette Pacha, docking at Marseille. As they entered for Paris the Empress said she did not know whether she would go to Geneva.

Dr. Wagnep C. Martin, Ethiopian Minister to London, said there was "no object in the Emperor going to Geneva."

"It is absolutely hopeless," he added. "Our written appeals have been almost ignored. What would be the use of making a personal appearance?"

He asserted that the Ethiopians were not a conquered race. "They are valiant men still fighting and retaining a large portion of their country," he said. "They will continue fighting to the bitter end."

The "realistic" great Powers were virtually certain to win eventually, for the morning session showed that Viscount Halifax, Britain's Foreign Secretary, and French Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet had the meeting in any hands.

Britain and France already have given assurances they would be freed of the League obligation not to recognize Italy's conquest.

When recognition does come before the Council the Ethiopians are expected to make objections to which would amount to expunging the fallen realm of Haile Selassie from the list of nations and from League membership. After this members of the Council probably will make a series of declarations which will be considered to have freed them from their non-recognition pledges.

It was not expected there would be a vote on the matter or any similar formal League action.

Reservations by Russia. Lord Halifax spoke in praise of the British-Italian accord signed at Rome April 16, and said that Britain, Rumania, Poland and Belgium all expressed approval. Foreign Commissioner Maxim Litvinoff, for Soviet Russia, alone made reservations. He did not mention Spain, but said Russia hoped the British-Italian agreement would not injure the rights and privileges of other nations.

The British Foreign Secretary was followed by Foreign Minister Bonnet of France, who echoed his views in defending the French-Italian agreement which still is under negotiation.

Lord Halifax said the fact that Britain and Italy were able to reach an agreement entitled both to claim a contribution "to the cause of international peace, thereby strengthening the cause which this great society (the League) exists to serve."

Cites Roosevelt Statement. Halifax also cited in defense of the agreement President Roosevelt's statement on the subject which the British Foreign Secretary said was "a gratifying testimony to our common Government."

(President Roosevelt said April 19 that the United States Government viewed conclusion of the agreement "with sympathetic interest because it is proof of the value of peaceful negotiations.") The Spanish Government delegate, Julio Alvarez Del Vayo, bitter over the recent British-Italian agreement and French-Italian negotiations, talked of Italian and German aid to the insurgents in Spain's civil war. FINES AND JAIL FOR 37 SIT-DOWN STRIKERS UPHELD

Illinois Appeals Court Rules Also Against Two Union Leaders in Fansteel Plant Case.

By the Associated Press.

OTTAWA, Ill., May 10.—The Second District of the Illinois Appellate Court upheld today sentences imposed on 39 persons for their part in the Fansteel Metallurgical Corporation plant strike at North Chicago in February, 1937.

The opinion of Judge Franklin R. Dove of Shelbyville, upholding fines and jail sentences for 37 sit-down strikers and two of their leaders, affirmed findings of the Court of Lake County and ruled:

"In our opinion Congress did not by its enactment of the Wagner Act deprive or attempt to deprive the states of their police power to protect property rights or punish illegal acts committed in the course of labor disputes."

The 37 striking employees and two Committee for Industrial Organization organizers were sentenced for violating an injunction order that they evacuate the corporation property. A riot followed an attempt by the Lake County Sheriff to evict them, but a second attack on the plant by the Sheriff forced them out.

Sentences ranged from $100 fines and 10 days in jail for 24 men to a $1000 fine and 60 days in jail for one. In appealing from the sentences, counsel for the strikers argued the National Labor Relations Act was a competent code for relations between employer and employee and that no state court had jurisdiction over such relationship.

The Appellate Court opinion said "there is nothing in the Wagner Act which deals with the subject of violence or any illegal act committed by employees in the course of an industrial dispute."

An employer refused to bargain with his employees collectively cannot justify those employees in their conduct of a strike in seizing the factory of their employer and without authority of any kind evict their foreman, barricade the doors, deny the rightful owner such relationship, and property, and defy those whom they know to be officers charged by law to carry out the orders and decrees of a court.

"The remedies available to an employer or an employee in a court of equity are available and let us hope will continue to be."

On Court Jurisdiction. The Court characterized as "evident an afterthought" the contention of the sit-downers' counsel that the Court was without jurisdiction. It said the question was raised for the first time in the Appellate Court and was not presented to the Chancellor at any time by any motion, pleading or argument.

Longest terms and largest fines were given Meyer Adelman and Oakley Mills, organizers for the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, a C I O affiliate. Adelman was fined $1000 and sentenced to eight months in the county jail, Mills $500 and six months.

Max Swiren, counsel for the company, said he would ask the United States Circuit Court of Appeals Monday for a hearing on its appeal from an order of the National Labor Relations Board directing reinstatement of 95 workers, including the 37 involved in the injunction case.

Actress Billie Seward Divorced. By the Associated Press. LOS ANGELES, May 10.—Billie Seward, movie actress, was given a divorce yesterday from William R. Wilkerson, night club operator and movie trade paper publisher. The couple also approved a property settlement agreement under which Wilkerson promised to give her $100 a week for 247 weeks and $5000 in addition within two years.

Of the WPA appropriation, a maximum of $425,000,000 could be used for highways and streets, $250,000,000 for educational and "white collar" projects, and $375,000,000 for miscellaneous developments, such as conservation, power and water projects.

The National Youth Administration, a branch of WPA, is listed for $75,000,000, while the Farm Security Administration would receive $175,000,000 for rehabilitation of needy farmers. The Puerto Rican Reconstruction Administration would be given $4,000,000, and about $20,000,000 is included for administrative expenses of various agencies which co-operate with WPA.

Money could not be allotted for any P W A projects which could not be commenced before Jan. 1, 1939, or substantially completed before June 30, 1940.

The bill sets a deadline of Aug. 31 for the filing of new applications for projects.

The 80 House Republicans called their first party conference of the session for late in the day to discuss their strategy against the spending-bill.

Directing their activities toward an early end to the session, House leaders arranged to interrupt the relief debate, probably tomorrow, to accept a compromise on the tax revision bill and send it to the White House. The Senate approved the tax legislation yesterday.

PRECINCT CAPTAIN TESTIFIES AGAINST MRS. RYAN AND AID

compare favorably with those in the 15 other wards in the city. "They gave us figures for the whole ward," Hayde said, "but I don't remember what they were."

On the day before election, he said, he went to Devos's private office. Devos, he said, consulted "a yellow sheet of paper" and told him to give the Republicans an average of 47 votes for his precinct. "He said to jump them around so it wouldn't look like a fake vote," Hayde said, "but to make an average of 47. I said all right."

Carried Out Orders. He carried out his orders, Hayde related, feeding friendly election officials "12 ghosts at a time" and forging and voting about 90 ballots after sending two suspicious Republican women officials out to lunch. The precinct captain for another Democratic faction, who pleaded no contest, helped him to do this, he said.

At dinner he used the back of a canceled ballot to "figure out" how to hit the 47 average. "We gave some 46, others 48, some 43—but we averaged 47," Hayde observed.

No votes were counted, he said, until the polls closed when it was found the ballot box was over-stuffed by 50 ballots.

During the day Mrs. Ryan and Devos visited the polls to "see how things were going," he said. Hayde testified he told Mrs. Ryan, "put on a pads like I said" and quoted her as replying, "I'm glad you are getting on all right—they have been having trouble in other precincts."

Previous fraud trials involving Twelfth Ward precincts have disclosed evidence of gross intimidation and bribery on the part of the polls. After the polls closed he reported by telephone to Mrs. Ryan, Hayde said, that he had given the Republicans 47 votes, to receive the congratulatory "that's fine."

Submitted Written Report. Hayde said he subsequently submitted a written report to Mrs. Ryan and Devos, and was again congratulated. Devos, he said, observed that "they didn't do so well in some of the other precincts; we had to have prepared to turn Government evidence."

Mrs. Ryan, trim in a tailored suit with blue hat and veil to match, was under no illusions as to what she was up against in this trial—for the Government's opening statement indicated clearly her subordinates were prepared to turn Government evidence.

During preliminary testimony by Fred Bellemore, chairman of the old Election Board, replaced by Gov. Stark, it was developed under questioning by Randall Wilson, First Assistant United States Attorney, that votes were recorded from the second precinct of the Twelfth Ward for Congressional candidates not even running from that district, so zealous were the leaders to insure a big score.

After Judge Otis recessed court yesterday, six defendants in one of the two vote fraud cases remaining on his docket stepped forward and pleaded "no contest." Judge Otis said sentence would be pronounced Monday after a summation of the Government's evidence in that case, involving officials from the third precinct of the Sixteenth Ward.

They are Matt C. Gill and Mrs. Janie A. Brown, Democratic judges; Mrs. Ethel G. McLouth and Mrs. Cora Ellen Owens, Republican judges; Mrs. Mary I. Diehl, Democratic clerk; and Edwin H. Menge, Republican clerk.

It appears that the morale of the organization's underlings has been broken beyond control, and that a similar wholesale capitulation may be anticipated when men and women in other cases appear before United States District Judge Albert L. Reeves late this month.

It was learned also that Judge Otis already has under consideration his charge to another grand jury which may carry on the work of investigating conditions at the last national election here.

Lichtenstein Against Union. By the Associated Press. VADUZ, Lichtenstein, May 10.—Dr. Joseph Hoop, chief of the Government, said yesterday there would be no union of Germany and Lichtenstein, the tiny principality wedged between Switzerland and Old Austria. "This principality is determined to maintain its sovereignty and independence," he said.

Charles F. Baldwin, a Republican clerk who pleaded no contest was the witness today. He asserted that Hayde caused him to aid in putting on a "pad" at the September registration and again on election day. "Ghost voters" were written in during the day, he said, and after the polls closed more ballots were in the box than names on the books, so names were written in "to make them balance."

On cross-examination, Baldwin said he didn't know anything about

SPANISH REBELS ATTACKING ALONG ROAD TO CASTELLON

Troops Advance Behind Heavy Artillery Barrage—Still 30 Miles North of Key Point on Coastal Route to Valencia.

By the Associated Press.

HENDAYE, France, at the Spanish frontier, May 10.—Spanish insurgents concentrated the main force of their attack today on coastal approaches to Castellon de la Plana and Valencia.

The fighting on the Eastern front centered about Cuevas de Vinarna, 30 miles to the north of Castellon, and the insurgents sought to regain an area they lost yesterday.

The insurgent strategy was to force the Government right flank to fall back westward, thereby widening the narrow strip which Gen. Franco holds along the Mediterranean.

Much of the insurgent heavy field artillery was reported moved to this front, over a highway skirting the sea and one of the few main arteries which remained possible during the last 13 days of rain.

Insurgent Galician troops fought slowly forward behind a rolling barrage from 75-millimeter guns and 155-millimeter rifles and howitzers.

The action was typical of insurgent use of their superiority in artillery. After a general preparatory barrage had pounded strong Government fortifications, the artillery increased its range to form a moving curtain of shells to screen the advancing infantry.

While heavy field guns kept the barrage rolling, some lighter units moved up along with infantry, for use at point-blank range as anti-tank weapons.

The activities of Mrs. Ryan and Devos. Signed False Certificates. Daniel R. Griffith, Democratic judge, who pleaded no contest, told of seeing Hayde tear off ballots from a pad and mark them. He said he did not protest. He too, described the scene after the polls closed and admitted he signed certificates knowing they were false. He knew nothing about the two on trial.

Already under sentence of three years' imprisonment for complicity in conspiracy to corrupt the ballot in another of the 28 precincts in her halliwick, inherited from her father, a veteran Pendergast leader, Mrs. Ryan is under indictment in still another case. If this trial results in a conviction the pending case may be dropped.

Mrs. Ryan, trim in a tailored suit with blue hat and veil to match, was under no illusions as to what she was up against in this trial—for the Government's opening statement indicated clearly her subordinates were prepared to turn Government evidence.

CHICAGO BABY WHO FIGURED IN CUSTODY CONTEST DIED

Donald Horst, 3, Succumbs After Appendectomy; Abducted From Foster Parents by Mother.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, May 10.—Three-year-old Donald Horst, central figure in an abduction that developed into a custody dispute last summer, is dead.

The boy died at the Lutheran Memorial Hospital last night after an appendectomy. He was taken there May 5 by his foster parents, Orla and Martha Horst, and underwent the operation performed by Dr. John A. Rose.

It was Dr. Rose who attended the birth of the child to Mrs. Lydia Nelson Lavin, and arranged for the baby to be given to Mrs. Horst, wife of a manufacturer.

On Aug. 3, 1937, the boy was snatched from Mrs. Horst's arms by Mrs. Lavin and John Regan, who, she said, was his father. On Sept. 1, the child was placed in the permanent custody of the Horsts by County Judge Edmund K. Jockeck.

BABY DOING WELL AFTER LEFT EYEBALL IS REMOVED. Physicians Examine Affected Part in Effort to Save Vision in Other Eye.

CHICAGO, May 10.—The left eye ball of Helaine Colan, 5½-weeks-old baby, removed in an effort to save her life, was examined today by physicians in an effort to preserve the vision in her other eye.

The baby spent a comfortable night after the surgical operation which a council of 10 medical experts decreed as the only recourse against death from glaucoma of the retina.

They were asked to make a decision when Helaine's parents were unable to decide whether she should undergo an operation and risk total blindness or to be allowed to die. The cancerous growth had destroyed the vision in the left eye and had impaired that in the right.

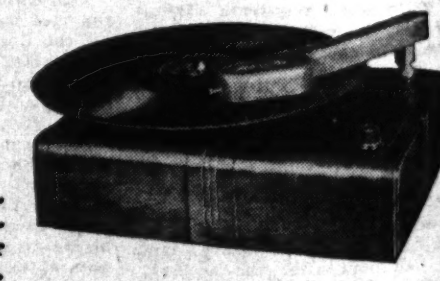

Medical experts said the disease would be fatal if it reached the brain, through the optic nerve. Dr. Robert H. Good, who performed the operation, said the eyeball was considerably enlarged by the tumor but the optic nerve, an inch of which was removed, appeared normal.

The baby's maternal grandfather, Dr. Morris Ehrenman, collapsed outside the operating room.

THREE WARRANTS AGAINST WOMAN IN AUTO FATALITY

Mrs. Verna Hoge Gadd Charged With Manslaughter, Leaving Scene of Accident and Drunken Driving.

UNDER BOND PENDING HEARING MAY 18

Arrested in Damaged Car After Killing of Mrs. Christine Buermann on Road in Rock Hill.

Mrs. Verna Hoge Gadd, wife of J. R. Gadd of Rock Hill Village, was charged in three felony warrants issued this afternoon at Clayton with manslaughter, leaving the scene of an accident, and driving while intoxicated in connection with the death yesterday on Manchester road at McKinley street, of Mrs. Christine Buermann.

Earlier in the day, a coroner's verdict of manslaughter had been returned against her by a jury which found that she was under the influence of intoxicants when Mrs. Buermann was killed. After the warrants were issued, she was released on bonds totaling $7500, and her preliminary hearing was set for May 18 before Justice of the Peace Louis L. Hicks.

Mrs. Gadd, after denying in an incoherent statement yesterday that she had been in an accident, admitted early today that she recalled having hit a woman, Deputy Sheriff Harry Newbold, told the coroner's jury. He quoted her as saying this morning that her condition was such that she did not recall in what direction she was going at the time of the accident but her recollection was that she had "just sidwiped" the woman and that the woman was that the woman was not hurt.

Newbold testified that when Mrs. Gadd was brought to the Sheriff's office, she was incoherent in speech, walked unsteadily and made conflicting statements, among them that her name was "Petunia" and that she was 75 years old. He said he had taken her to County Hospital where physicians said she was suffering from acute alcoholism. Afterwards she was placed in jail.

This morning, he continued, she said in explaining her condition, that she had taken a tonic for her nerves yesterday morning and had been bought a bottle of "whisky," some of which she drank. The result, he quoted her as saying, was that she was dazed.

Mrs. Buermann's sister, Mrs. Undine Vance, testified she and Mrs. Buermann were walking west on the shoulder, facing eastbound traffic, when a car suddenly pulled off the road to the shoulder. She herself jumped into a ditch and did not see Mrs. Buermann struck, but she heard "a terrible smash."

L. E. Bird, 5009 Vernon avenue, who had just passed the two women, said he looked around when he heard the crash and saw a woman's body in the air. At that moment, he said, a car passed him eastbound and he noticed that it was making a peculiar scraping noise. The driver was a woman.

How She Was Arrested.

Police reports read at the inquest told how Mrs. Gadd was arrested. Bird had told of hearing the scraping sound in recounting the accident to Charles Bradley, mechanic at the garage of Mrs. Buermann's husband, William L. Buermann, on Manchester road at McKinley street.

A half hour after the accident, Bradley noticed that a westbound car was giving out a scraping sound as it passed. He pursued in an automobile and overtook the car at Watson road. A few moments later a policeman came along and arrested the driver, Mrs. Gadd.

The scraping noise proved to have been made by the fan rubbing against the core of the radiator, which was smashed and bent back. A radiator ornament, a bucking ram, found near Mrs. Buermann's body, fitted the stub on Mrs. Gadd's radiator from which an ornament had been torn. There was blood on the radiator grill, the coroner's jury was told, and the right side tires on the car were of the same make and condition as those whose prints were left in the shoulder on Manchester road at the scene of the accident.

Declines to Testify.

Mrs. Gadd was sworn as a witness at the inquest, but on the advice of her lawyer, who was present, declined to testify. When booked yesterday afternoon she gave her age as 38, but her age is given on her State driver's license as 40. Her husband is president of the Riverside Manufacturing Co., 401 Connecticut street.

Mrs. Buermann, 48 years old, was taken to County Hospital by a passing service car driver, but was dead on arrival of fracture of the skull, neck, legs and right arm. Surviving are her husband and son, LeRoy, 23, an employee of his father's garage, which adjoins the Buermann residence.

thing to me." The Government charges that fake win sheets were prepared, containing names of friends and relatives of promoters. Asked to Help Raise $25,000.

Father Cox said: "They asked me to help raise the $25,000. I told them I have given over and above the 25 per cent promised me as my share for charity. I'd given all I had."

Father Cox denied, and had the two living judges that Wicks had paid $50 each to those who selected the winners.

Father Cox said he knew nothing whatever of two cashier's checks, one payable to "Advance Printing Co." for $1000, and the other, for an unnamed amount, to J. C. Pierman, on the Central National Bank of Cleveland.

He said: "I never authorized anyone to take out those checks. I knew nothing at all about it."

Others have testified that Father Cox had control of the fund. Father Cox was questioned about an article in a Catholic paper objecting to his methods of raising funds. He denied that he had said "They're sore because we're musing in on the racket," declaring: "No, I did not say it."

He added: "I never obligated myself in any way for anything connected with the contest."

Spent $4500 on Garden.

On cross-examination, Father Cox said he had spent $4500 of his share of the fund to beautify the little "Monastery Garden" at Old St. Patrick's Church.

The Father Cox Relief Fund, he said, is incorporated, with himself as president and treasurer; S. Rosalind Keenan as secretary, and Charles and Anton Yeagley and A. S. Krunkel as directors. He said he administered the fund, paying out for relief as the bills came in. In the "Belmont Sweeps" contest, he said, he received $3300, but J. C. Pierman made it $5000 as a gift to the Relief Fund.

He said he never tried to check on whether the promoters had placed $25,000 in escrow, because he trusted them.

He was asked: "How did you expect to pay the prizes?"

"I didn't promise to pay, the promoters did. They said they had the money," J. C. Pierman is a man who has money," he said. "Getting the money was not my problem. It was not in the arrangements for me to do it, but I helped. I never left anything undone to obtain the money."

Clifford, he emphasized, did everything he could to find the money either to pay the prizes or to pay back the contributions.

The promoters, Father Cox said, offered him eight checks—four signed by Harkins, two by Wicks and two by Sam Bloom, totaling about $20,000. They were in a package containing $134 in cash.

Father Cox said: "I was pleased."

But his pleasure evaporated, he went on, when he found that the checks were no good.

"Receipt for Nothing."

He was asked by Prosecutor John Ray: "Harkins and Wicks offered you a receipt showing you had paid them $25,000?"

"Yes."

"And you refused to accept it?"

"Yes."

"Don't you think you should have kept it?"

"No. It was a receipt for nothing."

"And you gave them $500 more than you should have?"

"Yes. I gave it to them to help raise the $25,000 for prizes. My name had been used in the contest."

The promoters, said Father Cox, tried also to get the $4500 he had spent on the monastery gardens. He was asked:

"Didn't Wicks say to you, 'Will you give back what you have if we raise the prize money?' and didn't you answer, 'I can't; it's spent'?"

"Yes."

Father Cox said the incoming mail at Old St. Patrick's Church runs about 125,000 letters a month. He was asked: "The printing over your signature said one thing,

L. WADE CHILDRESS HEADS LACLEDE CO.

Elected President by Utility's Reconstituted Board of Directors.

L. Wade Childress was elected president of the Laclede Gas Light Co. today by the reconstituted board of directors which took office two weeks ago. He is chairman of the board of the Columbia Terminal Co., president of the Mississippi Valley Barge Line Co., and resides at 9030 Clayton road, St. Louis County.

R. F. Pickard, who has been operating vice-president, was re-elected as vice-president; E. L. White was re-elected secretary and treasurer, and Alfred Hirsch was re-elected assistant secretary and treasurer.

Childress told reporters the board meeting was harmonious. All nine directors attended. He said he was not free now to disclose what, if any, action was taken about the company's payment two years ago, under another management, of $40,000 to Floyd McKinney, St. Louis lawyer, for settlement of a damage suit filed by the City of St. Louis, out of which the city received only $12,000. He had previously announced that the board was studying the matter.

In a prepared statement Childress touched by inference on the rate question, saying the purpose was to make the business successful, "and the only way I see that we can succeed in this endeavor is to increase our facilities and to provide an attractive price for all of our products and make every customer realize that we have a concern in his way of looking at our service." He would not enlarge on this.

A rate compromise agreed to by the company and the city is now before the State Public Service Commission. It provides for elimination of practically all of a 6 per cent rate reduction offered by the commission after long hearings and finally approved by the Missouri Supreme Court. A hearing on the compromise is set for next Thursday noon.

"We naturally hope to make a fair return on our investment and to not make this obligation as will work any hardship on any matter that has to do with rates or prices of any of our products," Childress said in his prepared statement.

He said to reporters that he expected to give much of his time to the gas company. He was first elected a director more than a year ago after Harley L. Clarke, holding company president, took control of the company. Utilities Power and Light Corporation of Chicago, the holding company which Clarke controlled, owns a majority of the voting stock of Laclede Gas. The holding company, however, is undergoing reorganization in Federal Court at Chicago, and its trustee, Charles True Adams, votes the Laclede stock.

FEDERAL GRAND JURY IMPANELED BY JUDGE DAVIS

Richard I. Lockwood, President of Coal Company, Is Named Foreman.

The March term Federal grand jury, one of two such bodies serving annually, was impaneled today by United States Judge Charles E. Davis. He named Richard I. Lockwood, president of the Southern Coal and Coke Co., as foreman. Of the 22 other members, two are from outside the St. Louis area, the court district being that of Eastern Missouri.

Of the 22 members of the grand jury, at least 12 must sit on an indictment. The members, besides the foreman, are:

Clifford Abeles, president Commercial Building Co.; Charles W. Anna, trust officer Mississippi Valley Trust Co.; Charles W. Anna, treasurer Merchants' Ice and Coal Co.; Charles W. Beugger, comptroller National Bearing Metals Co.; Gustave M. Briston, manager Hessler Truck Service Co.; William H. Chioley Jr., assistant secretary Scullin Steel Co.; Arthur Darks, Monroe City Charles S. Drew salesman, Webster Groves; Robert V. Heffernan, insurance broker; Harold T. Hungerford, president A. C. Clayton Printing Co.; S. M. Kennard Jr., president Kennard Carpet Co.; Frances R. Lowther, salesman Apex Realty Co.; Frank J. Mulligan, president Mulligan Printing Co.; Richard W. Osborn, electrician, Richardson Electric Co.; John J. O'Toole, secretary Hirschberg & Co., insurance; Gus H. Otting, 104 North Fourth street; George M. Parker, vice-president Parker-Russell Mining Co.; Edgar P. Schutte, Radio Station WLL; Andrew J. Scully, solicitor Witte & Co.; W. M. Smith, accountant; James L. Stevenson, buyer Ely, Walker & Co., and Walter Storres, Hannibal.

Cab With 5 Passengers Hits Building but No One Is Hurt.

William Brady, New York cab driver, died, apparently of natural causes, at 8 a. m. today when driving five passengers west on Delmar boulevard. The cab ran into a brick building at 2009 Delmar but none of the passengers was hurt.

Brady, 35 years old, lived at 1414 Francis street.

SUIT FOR $118,000 FILED AGAINST HAROLD M. BIXBY

Central States Life Insurance Co. Seeks Payment on Note in Osgood Hills Development.

Suit for $118,178, plus interest and attorney's fee, was filed in Circuit Court yesterday by the Central States Life Insurance Co. against Harold M. Bixby, former president of the Chamber of Commerce, who returned to St. Louis last Friday after five years as an air line executive in China.

Alfred Fairbank, president of the life insurance company, said to a Post-Dispatch reporter the sum represented a deficiency judgment on a loan made in the financing of Osgood Hills, a country club and residential development in St. Louis County. The insurance company foreclosed part of the property, which was subdivided by the firm of Bixby-Smith, Inc.

The petition states that on Dec. 1, 1928, Harold M. Bixby, R. F. Bixby, J. C. Smith, R. Garneau Weld and Bixby-Smith, Inc., executed a promissory note agreeing to pay the life insurance company $278,440 on or before Dec. 1, 1931. On Sept. 28, 1933, the principal and interest of the note amounted to $327,578, the suit states. A payment of $209,400 was made on that date, leaving an unpaid balance of $118,178. The suit seeks to recover that sum with interest at 8 per cent and 10 per cent for attorney's fees. Fairbank said the note was secured by a deed of trust and that satisfactory settlements were made with the other signers.

Bixby is staying at the home of his wife's mother, Mrs. F. C. Case, 4904 Pershing avenue. He declined to comment.

TWO YOUTHS ON MOTORCYCLE HURT IN COLLISION WITH AUTO

Ernest Hofmann, 5025 Raymond avenue, and Fred Kloth Jr., 8094A Page boulevard, students, were hurt when a motorcycle they were riding collided with an automobile driven by another student at Page boulevard and Belt avenue at 5:30 p. m. yesterday.

Hofmann, 16 years old, was operating the motorcycle with Kloth riding tandem. Hofmann went home following treatment for cuts and bruises. Kloth is in De Paul Hospital with concussion of the brain. The driver of the automobile, Otto Holz, 16, of 2017 Alameda avenue, Maplewood, was booked for making an unauthorized left turn.

James R. Mounce, 3, was struck by a city truck when he ran into the street in front of his home, 127W East Grand avenue, yesterday afternoon. He was taken to City Hospital with a fractured leg and cuts of the face. The driver was George R. Farrar, a foreman for the Water Department.

MORE COLORFUL BIRD HOUSE, AND NOISIER

Australian Parrots and Parakeets Out of Quarantine Now and on Display.

The bird house at the Forest Park Zoo is much noisier and more colorful since the addition to the display cages yesterday of almost all of the 41 Australian parrots and parakeets which were brought to the Zoo 10 days ago.

Taken out of quarantine, during which period they were allowed to recover their composure after the long trip, the birds were still sluggish and shy when put into their cages. But in about an hour they had gained confidence and, spying great pans of water, dove in and took long and thorough baths. Henry M. Kennon, the Zoo's ornithologist, said he had never seen parrots, which are infrequent bathers, so completely soaked.

It will still be several weeks before the group of new birds, scattered through half a dozen cages in the northwest corner of the building, will become completely acclimated. But meanwhile their brilliant plumage adds new interest to the already beautiful collection of tropical birds which the Zoo owns.

Rare Birds Acquired.

Among the new additions are some of the rarest birds now at the Zoo, Kennon said. It has been more than 15 years, he pointed out, since any shipment of birds from Australia has been sent to this country, because of strict export laws. However, many of the parrots are destructive to crops and especially orchards and, although the Australians will not export them, they destroy a great number of them.

As a result, Kennon said, some of the species sent here had been thought to be extinct. Among these are the Port Lincoln parrots, three down-looking birds in green, black and gray plumage. Kennon said they had been considered extinct for about 40 years.

The pair of Princess, or Queen Alexandra, parrots which are in the shipment are the first ever to be brought to America, Kennon continued. They are small, soft-looking birds in a variety of pastel colors.

Also rare in America are the red-tailed and the white-checked Banksian parrots, named after Sir Joseph Banks, who accompanied Capt. James Cook on his first trip around the world.

In their native state the parrots are found mostly in the inland forest and open meadows. They travel in pairs or small flocks and feed mostly on seeds. In captivity, however, they are also given a variety of fresh fruits and vegetables to nibble at.

Gaudy Parakeets.

The most gaudy-colored members of the new group are the two Barnard's parakeets, which also go by the strange names of Bulla-Bulla or Bulu-Bulu. The two pets among the new arrivals are the Gang-Gang, which, "because he looks like a red-headed Irishman," was named Pat; and the red shining parakeet from the Fiji Islands, which, although male, is called Ruby.

Kennon also received another parrot within the last few days, but it is neither rare nor exotic. A St. Louis family who couldn't handle him any longer brought him to the Zoo. Kennon keeps him back in the kitchen and one of the main reasons he likes him is the fact that one of the parrot's favorite bits of mimicry is: "Hi, pal, want a bottle of beer?"

Supreme Court Grants Stay Until May 18, Day After the Primary.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, May 10. — A stay until May 18, one day following Pennsylvania's primary election, was ordered by the State Supreme Court today in a grand jury investigation of Democratic campaign charges of bribery and coercion.

The grand jury inquiry had been ordered by the Dauphin County Court to begin tomorrow at Harrisburg.

The Supreme Court's decision, by a five to two vote, came after argument on whether a temporary stay should be granted. Dauphin County Court and District Attorney must show cause May 18 why the grand jury inquiry should not be prohibited.

An order for a writ of prohibition was requested yesterday on behalf of Gov. George H. Earle and others in his administration.

Charles Margiotti, independent candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, asserted "bribery interests" paid $20,000 for the passage of favorable legislation in 1935. When he refused to give evidence to Earle, he was ousted and Guy K. Bard named to succeed him.

The request that the investigation be prohibited was made by William A. Schnader of Philadelphia, representing Gov. Earle and Attorney-General Bard. Schnader, who was the Republican nominee for Governor in 1934, insisting to Earle, argued the Dauphin County Court was without jurisdiction to conduct the inquiry.

Schnader's Petition.

The Attorney-General (Bard) is now investigating the campaign charges which have been made. Schnader's petition to the Supreme Court said: "He pledges his word that he will prosecute any offenders, in or out of office, and regardless of party affiliation."

The attempt to prevent the investigation brought from Mayor S. R. Davis Wilson of Philadelphia an assertion that it was a "confession of guilt." Wilson is opposing Earle for the Democratic nomination for the United States Senate on a ticket backed by the CIO and United States Senator Joseph R. Guffey. Earle is endorsed by the State Democratic Committee.

13 MORE ARMY AND NAVY LEADERS OUSTED IN RUSSIA

May Day Parades Disclose Removal of Commanders, Including Four Who Aided in 'Purge.'

From a Correspondent of the New York Herald Tribune. (Copyright 1938.)

MOSCOW, May 10.—May day military parades in the Soviet Union's largest cities last week disclosed the extent of the turnover in the Red army's commanding ranks in recent months.

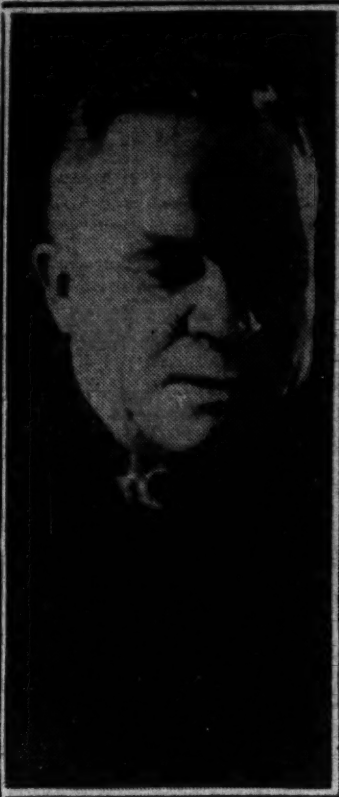

Thirteen top-flight military or naval officers, including two Vice-Commissars of Defense, have lost their posts during the last six months. They were all men who had survived the first big Red army purge last June, when Marshal Mikhail N. Tukhachevsky, Vice-Commissar of Defense, and seven other leaders were executed for treason. Four of the 13 were members of the army court-martial which sentenced Tukhachevsky.

The 13 include Marshal Alexander I. Yegorov, Vice-Commissar of Defense, second casualty among the Soviet Union's five Marshals; Gen. Yakov I. Alksnis, another Vice-Commissar of Defense and chief of the air force, and Admiral M. V. Viktorov, who headed the Soviet navy for a brief time.

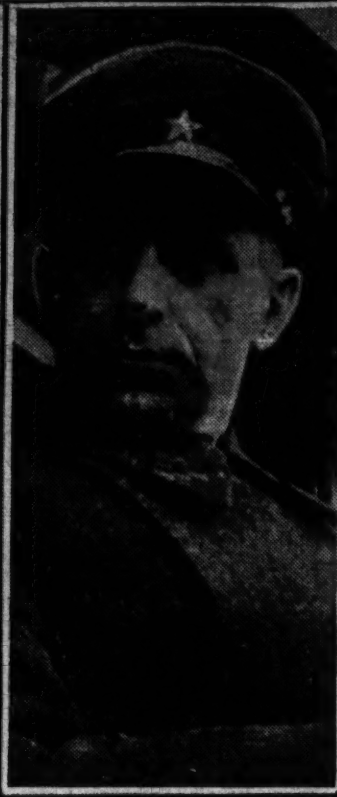

Others are Gen. Pavel E. Dibenko, commander of the Leningrad military district; Gen. Ivan P. Belov, commander of the White Russian military district; Gen. Nikolai D. Kashirin and Gen. S. Y. Gribov, both commanders of the North Caucasus military district during the last year; Gen. Mikhail G. Yefremov, commander of the Volga military district; Gen. N. V. Kulibshev, commander of the Trans-Caucasia military district; Admiral Gregory P. Kireyev, who welcomed the United States naval squadron at Vladivostok last summer, and Admiral E. K. Kozhanov, commander of the Black Sea fleet. Gen. K. L. Pantas and Gen. Ivan Krepachev, ranking political commissars for the Central Asia and Far Eastern military districts, respectively, also are missing. The list includes Red army leaders from seven of the Soviet Union's 13 military districts.

There has been no information as to what has happened to these men. None has been publicly denounced. Other changes going on in the Red army suggest that the most likely explanation of this turnover is the "Bolshevization of the Red army," which is the slogan of the day all over the U. S. S. R.

Captains of Soviet Ships That Collided Get Death Sentences.

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, May 10.—The captains of two steamers which collided and sank in the Caspian Sea were sentenced to death at Makhach Kala, capital of Dagestan, yesterday. They were charged with terrorism. The court found the collision involving the steamers, the Pushkin and Kollontai, was "deliberately prepared terrorist action."

Joliet Prison Closed to Visitors.

By the Associated Press.

JOLIET, Ill., May 10.—A mild outbreak of an intestinal disorder yesterday caused warden Joseph Ragen to bar visitors from the two branches of the Illinois Penitentiary here for an indefinite period. Ragen said there were 200 patients at Stateville, 35 at the old prison and six at the diagnostic hospital. He said all cases were light.

ANTI-SMOKE LAW INJUNCTION HEARING

Adalbert von Gontard Testifies in Coal Firm's Suit Brewery Uses Unwashed Fuel.

Adalbert von Gontard, vice-president and chief engineer of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., and a member of the board of five members which hears appeals from decisions of the Smoke Commissioner, testified in a deposition yesterday that the company used 300 tons of unwashed coal a day delivered to its power plant from its mine near O'Fallon, Ill., by the St. Louis & O'Fallon Railway Co., a railroad controlled by the Busch interests.

Von Gontard was called by Victor Packman, attorney for the F. C. Morgan Coal Co., which is seeking an injunction against enforcement by the city of its anti-smoke ordinance. Packman contends the ordinance regulating and licensing coal haulers and permitting them to haul coal only from approved sources of supply, is not applicable to railroads and this discriminates against mines which use trucks for transportation.

The Morgan mine near Millstadt, Ill., is without washing equipment but contends its de-dusting machinery enables it to comply with the ordinance requiring washing of low-grade screenings. It is not among the approved sources of supply. The St. Louis & O'Fallon Coal Co., likewise, does not appear on the approved list for screenings of less than two inches in size, and Von Gontard testified it did not have washing equipment. He said he did not know the sulphur and ash content of the coal.

The coal is crushed at the mine. Von Gontard told former Circuit Judge J. Wesley McAfee, special commissioner, and is pulverized at the power plant. He told of expenditures amounting to $35,000 to reduce smoke and fly ash and said the company planned to add more anti-smoke equipment costing $75,000.

Army Target Range Bill Signed. WASHINGTON, May 10.—President Roosevelt signed today a bill authorizing the Secretary of War to acquire by gift 2700 acres of land near Fort Missoula, Mont., for target range or other purposes.

RESIDENTS OF FLORIDA SUBURBS REJECT MUNICIPAL SERVICES

Committee Chairman Objects When Sarasota Begins to Give Police Protection.

By the Associated Press.

SARASOTA, Fla., May 10.—Residents of Bay Island, suburban district of Sarasota, neither "require" nor "desire" municipal services. R. S. Gliven, chairman of a committee, informed Mayor Verman Kimbrough of the island section's stand after the city started providing police and fire protection, garbage collection and other services.

Bay Island is legally a part of the city, but residents have paid no taxes since the Supreme Court decided several years ago they were not obligated because they did not receive customary municipal benefits.

WE BELIEVE IN LIFE INSURANCE

...An Institution That Keeps Its Promises

OVER the past century, in good times and bad, life insurance contracts have been fulfilled, promises have been kept. In 1937 alone, life insurance companies made payments to beneficiaries at the rate of a quarter of a million dollars every 60 minutes. The institution of life insurance has demonstrated its soundness. It is of inestimable value to the people of America.

Too often, however, men of means overlook the advantages of life insurance in conserving and protecting their estates. Taxes, expenses and various charges must be paid in cash, in many cases materially reducing the actual estate available to the beneficiaries. Only an impartial analysis of your estate plan can determine to what extent life insurance can be used to protect your estate from such depreciation.

The Mercantile-Commerce Bank and Trust Company's background of financial experience dates back to 1857 and it has administered estates for nearly forty years. This wide experience is available to you in analyzing the financial problems confronting your own estate. For the best interests of your beneficiaries we suggest a conference with your life insurance counselor and a trust officer of this Company.

The Mercantile-Commerce Bank and Trust Company is cooperating with the Life Underwriters Association in the observance of Life Insurance Week. This year, and this week is a particularly appropriate "Time to Think About Insurance". This Company strongly recommends the use of sufficient life insurance to fully complete your estate settlement plan. We invite you to consult any trust officer of Mercantile-Commerce.

ON PROGRAM FOR NAVAL EXPANSIONCompromise Authorizes Outlay of $1,099,000,- 000 to $1,156,000,000—
Final Passage This Week.By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 10.—Senate and House conferees agreed yesterday on a compromise on the billion-dollar naval expansion bill.
The measure is purely an authorization. Funds to carry out the program must be provided in annual appropriation bills.
Chairman Walsh of the Senate Naval Affairs Committee said the compromise probably would be taken up in the House today. Final approval there would insure Senate passage this week, he said.
The conference group approved a provision giving the President discretion over the size of three new battleships authorized under the bill.Battleship Tonnage.
Walsh said the President could authorize ships of 45,000 tons each under the provision, which is similar to one approved by the Senate.
The House had voted to limit the vessels to 35,000 tons.The conference committee approved a $3,000,000 authorization for a new dirigible on condition the President deems such construction necessary. It eliminated a House-approved authorization of $12,000,- 000 for promoting inventions.As it passed the Senate, the bill authorized a total of $1,156,000, 000 for naval construction, or $88,000,- 000 more than the amount approved by the House. Should the battleships be limited to 35,000 tons and should the dirigible construction be authorized, Walsh said the measure would aggregate $1,099,000,000.Aircraft Carrier Clause.
The committee compromise includes a provision authorizing two new 20,000-ton aircraft carriers voted by the Senate. The House had voted for 15,000-ton carriers.Besides the three battleships and the two airplane carriers, the compromise authorizes nine cruisers, 23 destroyers and nine submarines, as well as 950 airplanes and 26 auxiliary vessels.The conference committee voted to apply the Walsh-Healy Act to all construction under the program, except when the President decides otherwise. The act provides a 40-hour maximum week and minimum wages fixed by the Labor Department.PAIR SEPARATED BY WAR,

first on June 1, 1913, in St. Bridget Catholic Church here, will be married again Friday night by Recorder James D. McCabe.In the intervening years, Egideo saw much of the world, and Madeline moved to Union City and got a divorce.Two years after they were married Egideo decided to revisit his birthplace in Piedmont Province, Italy. Italy got into the war. Egideo, still an Italian citizen, was drafted into the mountain artillery and spent three years fighting.Corresponding during the war wasn't easy. When Mrs. Tartara moved to Union City, Egideo didn't hear about it. And when the war ended and he came back to North Bergen, he found no trace of her.Egideo signed up as a cook on a tramp steamer, went around the world and came back to North Bergen to look for his wife. Then he started out anew, but every trip for 18 years ended in North Bergen.By 1933, Mrs. Tartara had given up hope of seeing her husband again. So she got a divorce and resumed her maiden name. A few months ago she moved back to North Bergen to live with a sister, Mrs. Frances Dellano.Then Egideo returned from one of his numerous trips around the world and started another search of North Bergen. Yesterday he took out a marriage license.REPORT ON SCHOOL SURVEY

Suggested.A report prepared by a special committee of the Board of Education recommending a general survey of the public school system here, which will be submitted to the board tonight, shows that the persons to make the survey would be proposed to the board by the committee. Copies of the report, which was expected to receive final approval by the committee late this afternoon, became available today.The recommendation of surveyors would be made, as heretofore announced, after consultation with the executive officers of the board and with the present president of the American Association of School Administrators and his four immediate predecessors.Some advocates of a survey have urged that the surveyors be proposed by some independent agency.
The report declared that the inquiry should be broad enough to include all of the board's various services and should be made at the earliest feasible time. It called for a preliminary appropriation of $25,-

ST. CHARLES SHERIFF CRITICISED BY COURT

Judge Instructing Grand Jury, Comments on Handling of Labor Disturbances.

While directing the May term grand jury, sworn in yesterday, to investigate labor disputes and resulting disturbances, Circuit Judge Edgar B. Woolfolk of St. Charles criticized the handling of the situation by the Sheriff's office.

The Court, quoting from the Missouri Constitution, spoke on "the right of persons to seek and find employment." "Employee and employer should be protected," Judge Woolfolk said, adding that "no person elected or appointed should hold office unless he performs the duties of that office."

Judge Woolfolk's latter comment was directed against Sheriff Joseph Borgmeyer. "We should have a sheriff who would suppress an unlawful assembly of men threatening the safety of people in schools and in your home," he asserted. The reference was to a recent disturbance at the St. Charles High School, which was invaded by a group of men in search of A. F. of L. workmen, who had been chased away from an adjoining school job. The invading group left the school at the request of members of the faculty.

The St. Charles labor disputes

Engineers' Guest

have been between A. F. of L. unions and independent workers over the Alton dam site clearing, the St. Charles highway bridge and other public work. The differences recently were settled through agreements between the A. F. of L. unions and the Independent Workers' Organization, followed by a general resumption of work. Charges growing out of several clashes in which men were hurt have either been dropped or postponed.

D. C. JACKLING GUEST AT ENGINEERS' DINNER

Missourian Who Developed
Rich Utah Copper Mine Visits Briefly in City.

Daniel Cowan Jackling, former Missouri farm boy who became one of the world's foremost mining engineers, was the guest of St. Louis Chapter, American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, at a dinner at Hotel Chase last night. He arrived in St. Louis, and left after the dinner, in his private railroad car.

Jackling, now 69 years old, and national president of the mining engineers' organization, has his monument as an engineer and business promoter in the spectacular Bingham open-cut copper mine near Salt Lake City, Utah. In the early years of this century, he organized the Utah Copper Co. to take copper from the side of a porphyry mountain in the Wasatch range, at the end of the canyon in which the town of Bingham was built.

An unsuccessful gold mine had been worked in the mountain. Jackling demonstrated that the mountain's real wealth lay in its almost immeasurable stores of low-grade copper. Processes for working low-grade copper and making it commercially a rival of the Montana and Lake Superior product had to be worked out, and Jackling spent years in developing these processes and in getting financial backing for their use on the large scale required.

Mountain Is Terraced.
The mountain was laid open on 22 levels, forming an immense terraced slope which tourists now view from a distance of a mile or more, and which is one of the sights of the Rocky Mountain region.

The Utah Copper Co. became the producer of one-fifth of the world's supply of copper, and in addition one of the largest of American gold producers. It has paid many millions in dividends to its stockholders. Through the process worked out by Jackling, other low-grade deposits, previously considered not worth developing, have been put to use. Engineers estimate that nearly one-half the world's copper production is now from these low-grade deposits.

In Nevada, Montana and Minnesota, as well as in Utah, Jackling engaged in copper mining and railroad building. He was director of the Government explosives plants in war-time, and was assistant to the Director of Purchase, Storage and Traffic. The Distinguished Service Medal was awarded him for his war-time services.

Born Near Knobnoster.
Jackling was born on a farm near Knobnoster, Mo., and being left an orphan, was reared by an uncle and aunt. He went to school in Sedalia, and to Missouri School of Mines in Rolla. After his graduation in 1892 he taught for two years; then went to the Rockies, working first as a miner in the Cripple Creek district of Colorado.

He received the gold medal of the Mining and Metallurgical Society of America in 1926 for his service in development of low-grade copper; in 1930, the gold medal of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers for achievement in mining, and in 1932, the John Fritz gold medal of the United Engineering Societies, considered the highest honor in the gift of the profession, for notable industrial achievement. The Rolla School gave him the honorary degree of Doctor of Engineering in 1933.

Col. Jackling—the military title is an honorary one conferred by the Governor of Utah—went from St. Louis to Oklahoma, and will speak this week to professional organizations in Tulsa and Norman.

JERSEY CITY JUDGE UPHOLDS JAIL TERM FOR SPEECHMAKER

Appeal of J. J. Burdick Denied; Counsel Appeal to State Supreme Court.

By the Associated Press.
JERSEY CITY, N. J., May 10.—Judge William V. Kinkadee of Hudson County announced last night he had turned down the appeal of James J. (Boss) Burdick, local opponent of Mayor Hague, from his six-months' sentence on a disorderly persons conviction growing out of an attempted speech without a permit on April 16 in Journal Square.

Argument was scheduled for today before United States District Judge William Clark in Newark on a move by Samuel L. Rothbard, Burdick's counsel, for a writ of habeas corpus to compel Burdick's appearance in Federal Court to contend he was being denied his rights under the United States Constitution. Rothbard said he would appeal the Kinkadee ruling to the State Supreme Court.

Last Saturday night Representatives Jerry O'Connell (Dem.), Montana, and John T. Bernard (Farm-Labor), Minnesota, failed to make a scheduled appearance in Journal Square where—massed thousands awaited them. They changed their minds because they said they feared bloodshed. Norman Thomas, Socialist leader twice ejected from the city on the night of April 30, has announced he will seek a permit for an outdoor meeting on May 17 and O'Connell said he would come back and speak May 21.

4 NEW MO. PAC. DIRECTORS ELECTED BY STOCKHOLDERS

Walter W. Smith, St. Louis Banker, Chosen; Two Fill Posts Held by Van Sweringen Aids.

Four new directors of the Missouri Pacific Railroad were elected by stockholders at the annual meeting here today. They are Walter W. Smith, president of the First National Bank of St. Louis; Roy M. Farris, Houston (Tex.) banker and lumber man; R. Ward McGill, Wichita (Kan.) miller, and Harold M. Starbuck, Milwaukee (Wis.) grain man and vice-president of the Briggs & Stratton Corporation.

Two of them fill vacancies caused by the resignations of John Sherwin Jr. and George A. Tomlinson of Cleveland, who represented the old Van Sweringen interests. Substitution for them of business men along the Missouri Pacific lines was part of a new policy of the Allegheny Corporation, principal stockholder of the road. Two other directors, Fred G. Hiltner and Phoebe W. P. Weber of Lake Charles, La., retired voluntarily for lack of time. Eleven directors were re-elected.

L. W. Baldwin, president of the corporation, announced that the board would continue efforts to advance reorganization plans pending before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Eight directors of the New Orleans, Texas & Mexico Railway, a Missouri Pacific subsidiary, who also were among the directors of the parent corporation, were dropped at a stockholders' meeting at New Orleans today as the result of a proxy for more than 80 per cent of the stock voted under direction of Guy A. Thompson, trustee of the Missouri Pacific. Replacing them were operating officers of the system. The change largely eliminated the old Van Sweringen interests in the N. O. T. & M. Six directors were re-elected.

LIQUOR LICENSES OF 3 CITY TAVERNS ARE SUSPENDED

Two Penalized by Commissioner for Sunday Sales, One for Selling After Closing Hours.

The liquor license of a tavern at 5807 Delmar boulevard held in the names of Fannie Shapiro and Charles Newport today was suspended for 10 days by Excise Commissioner Lawrence McDaniel for Sunday sales.

Also suspended were the licenses of Goldie Meyer, 3401 Clara avenue, three days for Sunday sales, and Louis Kraus, 415 North Euclid avenue, two days for sales after closing hours.

Blow Torch Fires Man's Clothing.
Clifford Pollette, a painter, 1906A Ohio avenue, was burned on the hands, chest and one leg when a blow torch ignited his clothing, on which he had spilled gasoline, while he was at work in the back yard at 3410 Halliday avenue yesterday afternoon. A fellow workman beat out the flames. Pollette, 30, is in city hospital.

LEVEE DISTRICT REPORT CHALLENGED IN COURT

Objections Alleged East Side Board Conceals Information on Expenditures.

In a series of objections filed yesterday to the annual reports of the trustees and treasurer of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District, an East St. Louis resident alleged the reports did not disclose full information about the board's receipts and disbursements.

One reports withheld information from the public, the objections stated, "in order that funds may be diverted for unlawful purposes and to further and extend political power and control in East St. Louis and St. Clair County by the sponsoring of favored persons for public office."

The objections were filed in the St. Clair County Court in the name of John Cunningham, a former street car motorman, 713 North Thirty-second street, East St. Louis, by George F. Kelling, Belleville lawyer and Assistant Attorney-General of Illinois.

Kelling was defeated in last month's Democratic primary when he opposed County Judge Joseph E. Fleming for re-nomination. In the campaign he made objections to the Levee Board reports which Judge Fleming approved in previous years, similar to those filed yesterday.

Cunningham asked Judge Fleming to reject the current report, for the fiscal year ended April 1, and require the trustees and treasurer of the district to file new reports. Among the objections stated are that the report on payroll expenditures of $117,787 does not disclose who received the money, or for what services; that allowances to trustees for expenses are not authorized by law; and that the board employed two attorneys at a total annual salary of $5668, although limited by law to one attorney at a salary of $3500.

Objection is made to a $750 item for settlement of a damage claim in which Judge Fleming's law firm represented the claimants on the ground that he cannot, as Judge, pass on the propriety of that expenditure. Another objection is that legal notices were published by the district in three newspapers, although the law specifies publication in one newspaper.

APPEALS COURT SUBORDINATES KREUGER & TOLL CLAIMS

American Certificate Holders Will Not Share in Assets of Bankrupt Estate.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, May 10.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals unanimously affirmed yesterday a decree of the District Court subordinating $41,000,000 of claims of holders of Kreuger & Toll participating debentures and American certificates.

Under the decision, neither participating debentures nor American certificates will share in the assets of the bankrupt estate of Aktiebolaget Kreuger & Toll because the assets are insufficient to pay the other creditors in full.

The Appeals Court decision is in accordance with the decision previously made by the Supreme Court of Sweden.

It was pointed out that the Appeals Court ruling makes probable that the American bankruptcy of Kreuger & Toll soon will be wound up. Liquidators of Kreuger & Toll were appointed shortly after the death of Ivar Kreuger in March, 1933. He committed suicide in Paris when his companies toppled after the 1929 market crash.

The last report of the bankruptcy trustees filed prior to the Appeals Court decision showed the trustee had over $1,600,000 in cash for distribution to creditors.

How Life Insurance Trusts Can Protect Your Estate

A Personal Life Insurance Trust Can Provide Experienced Management for the Proceeds of your Life Insurance, and Effect Tax Saving in its Transfer.

Few people today question the value of life insurance as an estate-builder, and as a means of supplying necessary cash to meet the expenses involved in estate administration. But frequently not enough forethought is given to the management of the proceeds of life insurance to secure its maximum benefit to beneficiaries.

None of us can foresee today what the needs of our dependents may be tomorrow, what demands may be made upon our life insurance. But we can come close to projecting our own management into the future by creating a Life Insurance Trust, giving the Trustee discretionary powers to make payments of principal and income as circumstances may require.

Life insurance in excess of $40,000 is subject to taxation, as are other portions of your estate, but you can effect a saving in taxes, as well as administration and transfer costs, on your life insurance by creating a Life Insurance Trust for your beneficiaries.

A Business Insurance Trust Safeguards the Interests of Your Heirs in your Business, and Provides Continuing Control for the Associates of Your Business.

Business insurance has been defined as "life insurance as applied to business needs"—and a Business Insurance Trust operates as does a Life Insurance Trust, according to the terms of the Trust agreement.

While business insurance may be used for various purposes, most of it is sold for the purpose of liquidating a decedent's interest in the business, providing his heirs with a fair compensation for his interest in the business, and at the same time assuring his associates of control of the business without the danger of having inexperienced heirs active in its management.

A Business Insurance Trust is the most efficient means known for this purpose. Experience has proved that a corporate trustee—a bank or trust company—is the most reliable and best equipped to handle Business Insurance Trusts—whether the business in question is a corporation, a partnership, or a sole proprietorship.

NEW BOARD CHOSEN BY STOCK EXCHANGE

More Than Half Have Been Unconnected With Direction of Mart.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, May 10.—The New York Stock Exchange elected a new board of governors headed by William McChesney Martin, yesterday. Martin will serve as board chairman, a newly created office. He is 31 years old. Martin, who formerly lived in St. Louis, is a son of William McC. Martin, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of that city.

Members cast an almost unprecedented vote in favor of the 23 nominees. The ballots were cast by 924 of the 1375 registered members. Exchange spokesmen said it was probably the largest vote recorded in any uncontested annual election.

New Directors Chosen.
Of the 23 elected more than half are strangers to the exchange's higher administrative circles. Some are members of the present governing committee, which as a factor in exchange control goes out next Monday.

Sixteen of the new governing board are exchange members; six are partners in member firms in the New York metropolitan district, and six are partners of member firms outside the New York district. The present governing committee of 50 has only eight non-members and no representation of stock exchange firms with headquarters outside New York.

The new board will select a salaried president and three members who will be known as "public representatives." The latter will have no exchange affiliations. When completed, the governing board will consist of 33 members, including president and chairman.

The election marked the culmination of a long conflict within the exchange over administrative policies. It was so-called "old guard" against "progressive" wings. The latter held the "old guard" was not wholly in sympathy with ideas for administrative changes designed to meet public criticism directed at the exchange following the market smash in 1929.

A warning last fall by SEC Chairman William O. Douglas that the exchange might face more stringent regulation if it failed to revise administrative policy "in the public interest" is credited with having spurred reorganization.

SORE FEET

How Napoleon's
Soldiers Fixed
Them Up Right

Sore, aching, burning feet probably cause more misery—more distress—more bad temper and curing than most other human ailments. "Oil your feet," ordered Napoleon to his soldiers before a battle or a long march—he was a clever man. Many a time—overnight—you can take out the sting—the soreness—the burning and aching from your poor distressed feet by giving them a good rubbing with penetrating medicated OMEGA OIL.

Sleep sounder and tomorrow morning foot agony will be on its way—thousands know this—you ought to know it—35 cents. "Oil your feet."

ONLY NEEDIEST GET RELIEF IN CLEVELAND

Council Transfers $70,000
From W. P. A. Fund to Meet Emergency.

By the Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, May 10.—Women and children piled Government rations of cabbage and potatoes into baby carriages and toy wagons to replenish their cupboards yesterday as city officials grappled with the food crisis among the 87,000 direct relief recipients of Cleveland.

Long lines formed at five Federal Surplus Commodities distributing stations. The vegetables and butter issued there comprised the only food for many families.

Only the neediest cases received rations at the city's six relief stations.

From its hitherto untouchable W. P. A. finance fund, the City Council transferred $70,000 as a new appropriation to feed the neediest of its 87,000 relief clients.

This was a stop-gap appropriation which Mayor Harold E. Burton said would care for direct cases until next Monday. A $50,000 transfer made five days ago was exhausted yesterday. A special session of the Ohio Legislature has been called for May 16 to discuss appropriating State money.

The Council adopted a resolution promising to pay, when funds are available, for shelter, gas, electricity and water for the destitute.

The Mayor disclosed his cabinet had considered "the possible necessity of raising emergency relief funds by public subscription."

Relief clients, estimated at 250 by observers, abandoned plans for an all night sit-down protest in the Council chamber, deciding instead to send a committee to the Mayor to demand that money from the sinking fund be made available for relief.

Frank E. Bubna, City Relief Commissioner who estimates between one-third and one-fourth of Greater Cleveland's 1,200,000 persons are dependent on direct relief or W. P. A. work, said the load was larger than in the 1932 depression.

"This is due to two reasons," he said. "Many factories are not sharing the work by retaining men on their payrolls, and people haven't had as much opportunity to save money. Many of them saved up enough from the end of the war until 1929 to carry them through much of the 1932 depression."

Tax Delinquency Problem.

Bubna declared the State provided only 20 per cent of Cleveland's relief money last year, "most of which was collected in Cleveland through taxes," and that Ohio "is the only large State where the State is not doing its share or making it possible for cities to raise the money."

Gov. Martin L. Davey, at odds with Burton over relief, has said this county should collect "over $8,000,000 of delinquent taxes to meet its relief problems." City officials replied that only $7,000,000 was delinquent in the city.

Some of the indigent reported they were evicted from their homes by landlords who refused to wait longer for rent.

GRAND JURY INVESTIGATION OF DEATH IN REFORM SCHOOL

Prosecutor to Seek Indictment of Discharged Officer in Pennsylvania.

HUNTINGDON, Pa., May 10.—District Attorney Samuel Stewart said he was undecided if he would present to the grand jury today a charge of involuntary manslaughter against Commander John D. Pennington, superintendent of the State Industrial School for Boys here.

Justice of the Peace Ralph Galbraith held Pennington in $1000 bond for the grand jury yesterday on the charge of involuntary manslaughter in connection with the death of Daniel LeMaure, 17 years old, of Philadelphia, a Negro.

LeMaure died last December in the school. A Philadelphia physician said he died of an excessive administration of tear gas and a Coroner's jury agreed. Stewart testified at the hearing yesterday that Pennington was standing in the doorway of the Negro's cell block when one of the tear gas bombs was thrown into the cell.

Prison officials previously had said LeMaure was gassed when he became violent, barricaded himself in the cell and threatened guards.

Three Get Reserve Commissions.
WASHINGTON, May 10.—Appointments of three St. Louisans to commissions in the Organized Reserves have been announced by the War Department. They are: Edmund Berkeley Belcher, 3080 Connecticut street, Second Lieutenant of Coast Artillery; Joseph Alfred Costantino, 4415 North Newstead avenue, First Lieutenant, Medical Corps; and George Albert Siegelman, 2405 Baldwin avenue, Overland, Second Lieutenant, Chemical Warfare Service.

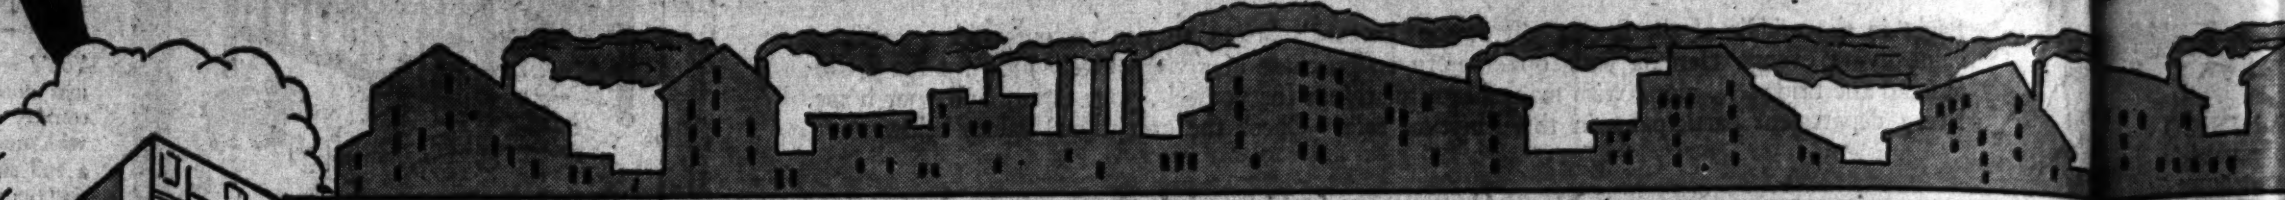

Belgian Bank Halted Here.

By the Associated Press.
BRUSSELS, May 10.—The Belgian National Bank today raised its discount rate from 3 to 4 per cent. The action was thought to be due to an attempt to check the outflow of capital caused by speculative selling of the belge.

Miss Ludwig, Once Questioned About Killing of His Wife, Said to Have Left Note.

By The Associated Press.
CONNEAUT, O., May 10.—Police of Canton, O., searched today for a letter reported to have been left by Miss Theresa Ludwig, 45-year-old divorcee, who was found dead under her new coupe in a garage here yesterday.

Miss Ludwig was questioned by police a year ago in connection with the murder of Mrs. Deuser S. Cable, of Canton, who was killed by a shotgun blast as she was covering a canary cage in her home at night. The murder never was solved.

The officers and enlisted men who fly the 170 planes, man the guns and bomb releases, or stay on the ground to direct operations and see that the fighting ships are ready for service, were in the barracks for their specific part in a mock war involving the entire G. H. M.

ended her life. Investigators learned, she visited Cable in Canton, quarreled with him and finally shouted: "You haven't heard the last of me."

Her body was found stretched out under her automobile, with the engine running, the exhaust carried to her face by her coat thrown over the muffle.

Coroner C. C. Webster returned a verdict of suicide by carbon monoxide poisoning.

Miss Ludwig had been living with a brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. George Reichsman, at 444

Chief Irv Manderbaugh of the Canton police said he had been informed soon after his arrival of the existence of a note written by Miss Ludwig. He was told it was left by a Bible in the Rochester release on bond on technical charge of suspicion last March.

Middletown, Pa. army air depot and this capital of Pennsylvania and to Allentown, Pa., Lancaster, Pa., Camden, N. J., and Aberdeen, Md.

At the same time, the first wing was ordered in from the Pacific Coast to Northern New York State home, and addressed to either a friend or relative of Miss Ludwig-Rodebaugh said he knew nothing of a note. Mrs. Rodebaugh went to Meadville, Pa., where a brother lives, soon after Miss Ludwig's body was found.

understood the note suggested arrangements for Miss Ludwig's funeral and the distribution of her personal effects. A blond wig was found in Miss Ludwig's automobile. Friends said they had never seen her wear the wig.

"She threatened to make it tough for me if we did not give her the money," police quoted Cables as saying. Manderbaugh said, "I wanted to learn where Miss Ludwig spent Friday night. He said he doubted the theory that she committed suicide because of illness. Relatives said she frequently drove away without telling where she was going.

Manderbaugh said she had been seen with Cable several times since her detention last March.

If you eat what most people do, chances are the only thing the matter is you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean how much you eat. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft bulky mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

What to do? Eat a little Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast

They are also unlike poultry on water. This crunchy toasted cereal is not only rich in "bulk"—it also contains the natural intestinal tonic, vitamin B₁. All-bran is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

SOME LEGION POSTS OBJECT TO APPOINTMENT BY STARK

Issue Over the Rev. R. M. Talbert, Nominated for Monument Inspection Trip to France.

Appointment by Gov. Lloyd Stark of the Rev. Robert M. Talbert, State Representative from Cape Girardeau County, as a member of a commission to go to France to inspect the monument erected there in memory of Miss

They contend the Rev. Mr. Talbert is not eligible for membership in the American Legion, because he was not a member of any United States military force during the war, but served as a chaplain in the Y. M. C. A. He now is a member of a Jefferson City post.

The 1937 Legislature appropriated $5000 for the care of the monument and graves in France. Attorney-General Roy McKittrick has held that traveling expenses may be paid from the amount. The Rev. Mr. Talbert has served three terms in the Legislature. He is staff chaplain of the Thirty-fifth Division, Missouri National Guard, with the rank of Lieutenant Colonel.

STARK WARNS BANKERS AGAINST PENDERGAST

Tells Convention 'Sinister Group' Threatens to Dominate Missouri Supreme Court.

By the Associated Press. EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo., May 10.—Gov. Stark struck out again against T. J. Pendergast's Kansas City Democratic organization by warning the Missouri Bankers' Association convention today that Missouri's Supreme Court must remain unviolated by the sinister group that seeks to dominate it.

"Here in Missouri," Stark said, "a group of politicians are attempting to repeal the primary law, attempting to return to the smoke-filled room and the log-rolling. And to my way of thinking, the attempt is being made upon a department of our State government that has been sanctified by the ages as the last resort of the people, a temple of justice open to all, the strike, now settled, in eight plants of the Bohn Aluminum and Brass Co. at Detroit.

UAW ACTS TO STOP UNAUTHORIZED STRIKES

Executive Board Decides to Investigate Stoppages and Punish Instigators.

By the Associated Press. DETROIT, May 10.—The international executive board of the United Automobile Workers Union adopted a resolution today condemning unauthorized strikes by its local unions and announced it would investigate three recent strikes and punish instigators by suspension or expulsion, if they are found guilty of violating UAW procedure.

BOY STOWAWAY, JUST OFF LINER, TAKES TO SEA AGAIN

Grooms Mother at New York Pier and Few Hours Later Is Found on Coastal Ship.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, May 10.—Thirteen-year-old Robert Stap was at sea for the third time today as a stowaway. He boarded the Savannah Line's City of Chattanooga yesterday a few hours after he had been returned on the liner Queen Mary from his second adventure as a stowaway—an Atlantic crossing.

He was found after the ship was at sea, and a report was made to the Police Missing Persons Bureau. The City of Chattanooga is due in Savannah, Ga., Thursday morning.

To his mother, Mrs. Frederick Stap, waiting when he stepped off the Queen Mary's gangplank, he said, "Hello, I'm going to run away again." He did not even sleep one night in his nautical bedroom, out-fitted with a sailor's berth to indulge his love of the sea.

The boy made his first stowaway trip last March, to France.

U. S. COAL ACT CHALLENGED

Anthracite Concern in Arkansas Files Injunction Suit.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 10.—The Sunshine Anthracite Coal Co., operating mines in Johnson County, Ark., filed suit in United States District Court yesterday attacking constitutionality of the National Bituminous Coal Act of 1937.

The suit asked for an injunction preventing Internal Revenue Collector Homer M. Adkins from attempting to collect a 19.5 per cent excise tax levied against producers who do not adhere to a code. The Sunshine Co. contended that its product was not bituminous coal and therefore not subject to provisions of the act. In addition, it contended the act was unconstitutional because it deprived the company of property without due process of law, invaded state's rights, and attempted to regulate distribution in interstate commerce of bituminous coal produced by coal members only.

R. SHIELDS PROGRAM

Children of St. Mary's Church to Present Tomorrow

Children of St. Mary's Church to commemorate the anniversary of the ordination of the Rev. J. Shields, when he was ordained at St. Mary's church at St. Louis, Mo., in 1890. The program will be presented at 8 o'clock.

Other events of the program will be a procession of the St. Mary's choir, which will sing "The Church is the Mother of the Faithful," and a presentation of a pageant wagon.

Celebration of St. Mary's began in 1890, when the church was founded by Father J. Shields, who was then pastor of the church.

St. Mary's parish was established by Father J. Shields, who was then pastor of the church.

The first church was built on the site of the present church, which was then called St. Mary's.

FR. SHIELDS JUBILEE PROGRAM FOR WEEK

Children of St. Matthew's Parish to Present Pageant
Tomorrow Night.

Children of St. Matthew's parish will commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the ordination of their pastor, the Rev. Joseph T. Shields, tomorrow, when there will be a mass for them at 8 a. m. in the church at Sarah street and Maffitt avenue. In the evening they will present a pageant on the school grounds.

Celebration of Father Shields' jubilee began last Wednesday with a mass at which Archbishop Glenn presided, and is continuing this week with events at the parish, culminating in a reception Sunday night at which members of the parish will present a pageant of $5000 to their pastor.

Five years before, on his ordination at St. Mary's Seminary in Baltimore, Father Shields had been chosen by Archbishop Kenrick for the St. Louis diocese. He had served during the interval as assistant pastor at the churches of the Immaculate Conception, St. Teresa and St. Lawrence O'Toole.

The frame church served St. Matthew's parish for 13 years and was replaced, in 1906, with the present large Gothic structure. The church, with its school, rectory and convent, represent an outlay of nearly $500,000. There are about 100 families in the parish now, and the school enrollment is 700.

When listening to Ball Game. George Hatter, 74-year-old watchman, died apparently of heart disease, while listening to the Cardinals' baseball game over the radio at his home, 3931A Gravois avenue, yesterday. The body was taken to the Lelander undertaking establishment, 2223 St. Louis avenue.

SHELL CORPORATION TO CLOSE $2,000,000 KANSAS REFINERY

Part of Policy of Restricting Marketing Activity Because of Economic Conditions.

The Shell Petroleum Corporation announced today that it would close a $2,000,000 refinery at Arkansas City, Kan., soon as part of a policy of gradual withdrawal from marketing activities in Kansas, Oklahoma, Nebraska, North Dakota and South Dakota. The decision, the company said, was made in the light of economic conditions in the midcontinent petroleum field, resulting in growing disparity between the price of crude oil and of refined products.

Crude oil's price is not excessive, the company asserted, but the price of gasoline and other products is too low. It cited a current refinery price of 4¢ cents per gallon for gasoline in Oklahoma as 20 per cent lower than a year ago, while a certain grade of crude was unchanged in price. Operation of the Arkansas City refinery has been unprofitable for some time, the statement went on.

It was stated that many of the 508 employees of the refinery would be given work elsewhere, but the plant would stand idle. It has comparatively small daily capacity of 20,000 barrels.

UNION OFFERS PROPOSAL TO END BARTON CO. STRIKE

Provides for Full Seniority Rights and Return of Workers to Their Original Jobs.

A proposal to end the strike begun yesterday at the Barton Manufacturing Co., 4187 North Kings-highway boulevard, makers of shoe polish, was made today by the employees' union. The company has 37 production workers, most of whom are deaf-mutes.

James O'Reilly, field representative of the union, said the proposal, made to Charles H. Spohrer, attorney for the company, provided for full seniority rights, return of the strikers to their original jobs, including the deaf-mutes, and a seven-day vacation with pay, or pay for the time spent on strike. Other terms are to be subject to negotiations.

The strike was called after failure of negotiations for a working agreement. The strikers are affiliated with the Gas By-Product, Coke & Chemical Workers' Union of the C. I. O. Picketing of the plant continued today.

55 STRIKERS BACK AT WORK AT SANITARIUM; 95 STILL OUT

Their Places Have Been Filled But They Will Be Rehired as Vacancies Occur.

Thirty-four of the city sanitarium employees who went on strike last Tuesday returned to work yesterday, bringing the total reinstated since settlement of the strike Friday to 55.

Still without jobs are 95 whose places were filled during the strike for shorter hours and union recognition called by Local 50-D of the Miscellaneous Hospital Attendants' and Employees' Union, affiliated with the A. F. of L.

Dr. F. M. Grogan, superintendent, said they would be returned to work as vacancies occurred. None of those employed to replace them will be dismissed except for inefficiency, he said, but the normal job turnover is 40 per cent a year.

COMMITTEE APPROVES PROPAGANDA INQUIRY

Representative Dickstein Says
Nazis Sent Million War Draft Forms Into U. S.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The House Rules Committee approved a resolution by Representative Dies (Dem., Texas) today for a congressional investigation of "un-American propaganda activities in the United States."

Chairman Dickstein (Dem., New York), of the Immigration Committee, said the inquiry, which would be conducted by seven House members, was necessary to prevent riots and bloodshed.

"There is going to be another riot next week," he said. "They are going to have a parade of 100,000 Nazis opening up camp Siegfried, Long Island. A group of Legionnaires came to me yesterday and said they were ready to take the law in their own hands because they say these Nazis can't goose-step and 'Hell, Hitler,' and carry on with swastikas."

Holding up a photostatic copy of what he said was a secret record of Fritz Kuhn, head of the German-American Bund, Dickstein said it showed the location of 31 Nazi camps in the United States that were paid for by foreign money.

"These Nazi organizations cannot operate without money," he shouted at the committee hearing, "and that money is coming from Germany."

He said Nazi agents had sent a million war draft forms to men of German blood in the United States, and that Nazis and Fascists in America had combined for "the destruction of the democracy."

Communism is not so dangerous as Fascism and Nazism at this point, Dickstein continued, because the Communist party has only 32,000 members and the bund has 460,000, including up an investigation that would run them out of the country," remarked Representative Cox (Dem., Georgia).

"Suppose I tell you," Dickstein asserted, "that 20 big industries in this country have contributed money to the Nazi cause because they have interests in Germany. It runs into six figures. One gave $20,000."

Chairman O'Connor (Dem., New York) of the Rules Committee said he had received many letters from Kuhn saying he would welcome an investigation.

A similar resolution, with more emphasis on the Nazis, was tabled by the House two years ago. Dies said his resolution would provide for investigation of all subversive and un-American influences, either foreign or domestic in origin.

$108,000 SOUGHT TO PAY FOR U. S. KIDNAPING INQUIRIES

Roosevelt Asks Congress to Meet Deficit of Federal Bureau of Investigation.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—President Roosevelt asked Congress today for an additional appropriation of $108,000 for the Federal Bureau of Investigation to make up a deficit caused by "unforeseen expenditures" in connection with recent kidnaping cases.

Daniel W. Bell, acting budget director, said "the service will be seriously crippled and personnel will have to be drastically curtailed" unless the additional sum is provided.

Bell said the deficit had "arisen wholly through unforeseen expenditures in connection with the Ross, Levine, and Fried kidnaping cases and other important investigations in addition to the regular work of the bureau."

He said the deficit, originally was $178,000, but this was reduced when Congress made $65,000 of the appropriation for the next fiscal year available immediately.

WOMAN, 3 MEN STOP DRIVER, ROB AND BEAT HIM AFTER RIDE

Victim Tells Police They Took His Camera and Watch When They Found He Had No Money.

Clem Wegman, a salesman, of 4914 Heege avenue, Gardenville, reported to police early today that he was slugged and robbed of a watch and camera last night by three men and a woman who stopped his car at Goethe and Gravois avenues and forced him to drive about the city and county for several hours.

He was stopped at 11 p. m. and forced to drive out to the Meramec River, he said. Here the men searched him for money. Finding none, one of the men hit him in the face and on the back of the head. They then drove to downtown St. Louis where Wegman was put out of the car, he said. The watch was valued at $25, the camera at $12.

OIL SUIT DEMURRERS UPHOLD

Restraining Order Given Firm Against State Officials Dissolved.

Demurrers filed by the defense in the suit of the Sampson Distributing Co., 600 South Vandeventer avenue, to enjoin Roy H. Cherry, State Inspector of Oils and Motor Fuels, and other officials from interfering with its business, were sustained yesterday by Circuit Judge Eugene J. Sartorius. The court also dissolved a temporary restraining order which had been issued in favor of the company when it filed the action.

The suit alleged that a request for a State license to operate had been refused illegally by the State Oil Department.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 10.—Representative Anderson (Dem., Missouri), charged in the House yesterday that the National Labor Relations Board's recent decision in the Douglas Aircraft Co. case was "one of the most glaring examples of bias, unfairness and utter disregard of the law of the land handed down so far by the board."

He declared the board ordered the company, located at Santa Monica, Cal., to reinstate a group of employees who were "convicted of seizing the Douglas plant by means of unlawful violence."

"Among those ordered reinstated, with back pay, was one convicted of a felony, an alien, who had secured employment by concealing his foreign citizenship," Anderson said.

He said that "despite the fact that the Air Corps Act provides that no alien can be employed in construction of military aircraft, the Labor Board found this alien was discriminated against because of union activities."

REPLACE YOUR SMOOTH WORN TIRES AND BE SAFE
LAST year highway accidents cost the lives of more than 40,000 men, women and children and nearly a million and a quarter more were injured. More than 52,000 of these deaths and injuries were caused directly by punctures, blowouts and skidding due to smooth, worn, unsafe tires. A recent survey discloses that 59 million tires now in use are, or will become, smooth this year. Do your part to make driving safer. Replace smooth tires on your car. Come in today and equip with Firestone Convoy Tires and save 25%.

FIRESTONE CAN GIVE YOU SUCH A HIGH QUALITY TIRE AT SUCH A NEW LOW PRICE
Because Firestone saves money by controlling and securing rubber and cotton at the source and by more efficient manufacturing and distribution. These savings make possible more extra values at low prices:

- New High Quality—First choice rubber and cotton selected that conforms to Firestone's high standards and rigid specifications.
- Long Mileage—Safe, silent tread design made of tough, slow wearing rubber that assures long mileage. Sturdy bars and rugged notches give protection against skidding.
- Blowout Protection—Nine extra pounds of rubber are added to every 100 pounds of cord by the Firestone Patented Gum-Dipping process. Every cord in every ply is saturated with liquid rubber which counteracts internal friction and heat that ordinarily cause blowouts.
- Puncture Protection—Firestone's patented construction of two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords under the tread protects against punctures.

Come in today. Let us put a set of these large size, rugged, long wearing Firestone Convoy Tires on your car—remember, you save 25%.

'PROPER PROTECTION' FOR CAPITAL SOUGHT

Aim Is to Reconcile Integration Policy With 'Principle of Diversity of Investment.'

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, May 10. — Executives of 14 of the country's largest public utility holding companies in a letter to W. O. Douglas, chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission announced today the creation of a committee of five to meet the commission in Washington to work out programs for compliance with the "death sentence" clause of the Public Utility Act of 1935.

Sub-section "B" of this clause provides that a holding company's scope must be restricted to a single integrated system and to such other operations only as are allied with the major business.

Sub-section "C" authorizes a holding company, beginning Jan. 1, to submit voluntarily to the S E C a plan of compliance. The purpose of the committee is to work out such a plan with the S E C.

The committee will urge "proper protection for capital" now in the hands of the public and hereafter by the holding companies and their subsidiaries.

Diversity of Investment.

The committee in so doing, will put forward the belief of executives of the 14 companies that "the fundamental principle of diversity of investment, which is represented here by both geographic location of operating properties and character of business served by them, is a very important factor in the raising of additional capital," the letter said.

The letter to Douglas was signed by C. E. Groesbeck, chairman Electric Bond & Share Co., and J. F. Fogarty, president, the North American Co. The other three members of the committee are: Wendell L. Wilkie, president, the Commonwealth & Southern Corporation; F. T. Smith, president, Middle West Corporation, and John E. Zimmermann, president, the United Gas Improvement Co.

The letter indicated the committee was formed after a preliminary conference, and on the suggestion of Commissioner Robert Healy of the S E C, as to the companies which should participate.

Executives of the following companies (besides the five named above) met here and selected the committee:

American Gas and Electric Co., American Water Works and Electric Co., Associated Gas and Electric Co., Cities Service Power and Light Co., Columbia Gas and Electric Corporation, Engineers Public Service Co., New England Power Association, Standard Gas and Electric Co., and the United Light and Power Co.

A fifteenth company, Utilities Power and Light Co., was not represented at the meeting by reason of the absence of Charles True Adams, in Washington today, conferring with the S E C.

Extract from Letter.

The letter said:

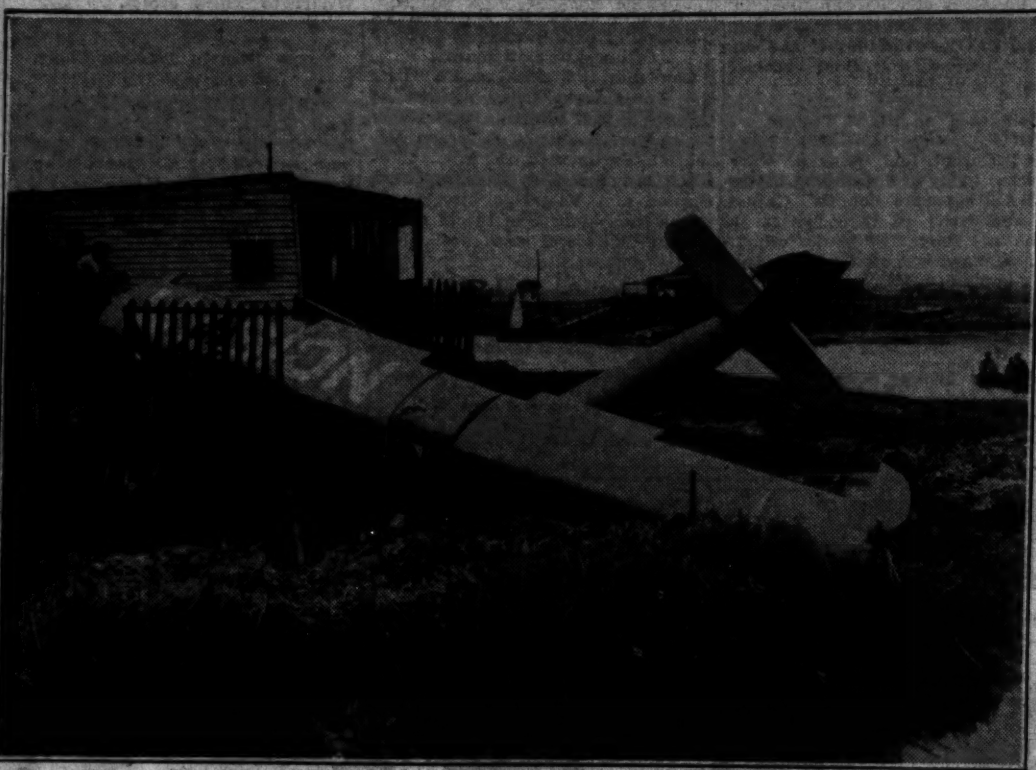

"We (Groesbeck and Fogarty) repeated to the executives of these companies the desire of the commission to work with the holding companies in an effort to ascertain what constructive progress can be made to conform with the integration policy of the Public Utility Holding Company Act.

"These executives expressed their readiness to review the situation in co-operation with the commission to ascertain to what extent further geographic integration may be effected with advantages to the public."

The letter went on to hold that the "fundamental principle of diversity of investment" should be "preserved in the public interest" and concluded:

"We have been requested to assure you (Douglas) of the desire of those present at this meeting to co-operate with the commission in endeavoring to bring about sound and constructive solutions of the problems confronting these companies."

SENATE VOTES $1,104,000,000 FOR FARM-HIGHWAY PLANS

Measure Carries Half-Billion For Benefit Payments Under Crop Control Program.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 10. — The Senate approved yesterday the expenditure of $1,104,000,000 in Federal funds for farm and highway programs.

The Agricultural Appropriation Bill, which would provide this record amount for use in the fiscal year beginning July 1, then was sent back to the House for consideration of some $50,000,000 which the Senate added to it.

Connally, (Dem.), Texas, obtained a provision intended to speed up the payment of a $120,000,000 subsidy on the 1937 cotton crop to growers who comply with the Federal farm program.

The biggest item was $500,000,000 for benefit payments to farmers who comply with the new crop control program. This was $15,000,000 more than approved by the House.

The Senate voted $23,000,000 for loans to tenants who want to become farm owners. The House had approved but $15,000,000 for this purpose. The Senate also increased from $2,500,000 to $15,000,000 funds available for the purchase and re-treatment of poor farm lands.

The Senate made $20,000,000 available to start Government crop insurance, to apply first to wheat. This amount was $1,000,000 above the House figure.

ANTI-BOSS DAY CALL STATE

Greene County They Expect From St.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, A call for a State-wide Anti-Boss Day in Jefferson County, May 20, "to defeat the attempt of a party to dominate and control the State," was issued by the Independent Democrats here last night.

This group of anti-boss Monday night Democrats met in the Douglas Democratic club—Greene County resolution to meet following a meeting of the State president, Arch A. Turner, committee chairman.

"And we want it while we are working," said Judge James H. Turner, fighting the bossism danger in the State. "The meeting on Monday in the hall of the representatives in the State to the resolution."

Plans also were made for the State with the group and the new organization. The day approved by the night is:

"Missouri is a gross servant to be governed by all the people," knows his rights, dares to maintain every foe of honest and personal species of intimidation of boss rule, and state.

"Above all, Missouri that those who fill the halls should be men of... free from influence and control."

The letter was written by John Strong support for the day is expected from son said.

ANTI-BOSS DEMOCRATS
CALL STATE MEETING
Greene County Lawyers Say
They Expect Support
From St. Louis.
By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Mo., May 10.—A call for a State-wide meeting of Anti-Boss Democrats in Jefferson City Friday, May 20, "to defeat this shameful attempt of a political boss to dominate and control our highest court" was issued by a group of independent Democratic lawyers here last night.
This group of attorneys, which last Monday night formed the Douglas-Democratic Lawyers' Committee—Greene County, adopted the resolution to call the State meeting following a report of the president, Arch A. Johnson, and several members that support had been promised from all sections of the State.
"And we want it understood that while we are working for the election of Judge James M. Douglas to the Supreme Court, we are also fighting the bossism of Tom Pennington in the State," Warren M. Turner, committee secretary, declared.
The meeting on May 20 will be in the hall of the House of Representatives in the Capitol, according to the resolution.
Plans also were made to circulate the State with letters explaining the stand of the Greene County group and the need for a State organization. The letter in part, as approved by the committee last night is:
"Missouri is a great State and deserves to be governed by patriotic citizens, consecrated to the welfare of all the people. The Missourians know his rights, and knowing, dare to maintain them against every foe of honest ballots, every species of intimidation, every scheme of boss rule, in city, county and state.
"Above all, Missourians demand that those who fill judicial positions should be men of high character, free from every sinister influence and control.
"The letter was written by a committee headed by John T. Woodruff, strong support for the State meeting is expected from St. Louis, Johnson said.
LEADS GUILTY OF BIGAMY
Negro Accused of Marrying Two White Women.
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, May 10.—William H. Stewart, 32 years old, Negro, commissionaire of Harlem, charged with marrying two white women, pleaded guilty of bigamy in General Sessions Court yesterday. He went back to jail in default of $10,000 bail to await a sentence of possibly five to 10 years.
Stewart had pleaded innocent last April 26. He was charged with marrying Sylvia Lazarus on April 15 while still married to Marlene Lehoulihan. Miss Lazarus was declared mentally incompetent and committed to a sanitarium at the request of her family after being detained found her and the Negro in an apartment.

ESTIMATE BOARD FAVORS FIRE STATION BOND VOTE
Approves Ordinance to Submit Question of Building 3 Houses, at Cost of $750,000.
The Board of Estimates and Apportionment approved today an ordinance providing for submission to voters of a proposed $750,000 bond issue for construction and equipment of three new fire stations, authorized the Comptroller to sell the old Third District police station at 714 S. Main street, and appropriated $300 for expenses of the Municipal Art Commission in inspecting models for sculpture at Aloa Plaza.
Fire Chief John J. O'Boyle said he had recommended that a bond issue of $1,500,000 be submitted at the Aug. 2 primary election for construction and equipment of seven new engine houses. Three old stations are to be abandoned as obsolete. Suggested sites for the new stations are: Fourth street and Delmar boulevard, Twelfth boulevard and Franklin avenue, Broadway and Park avenue, McNair and Gravois avenue, Elliott avenue near Natural Bridge, Twelfth boulevard and Mullany streets, and the St. Louis Hills district.
The old Third District police station, abandoned with completion of the new station at Twelfth boulevard and Linn street, will be sold for $4500 to Thomas Conner, president of the American Metal Barrel Co., 5027 McKinnock avenue, who plans to remodel it for leasing as a postoffice substation.
Members of the Municipal Art Commission will meet tomorrow to choose three representatives to inspect Aloa Plaza sculpture models at the studio of Carl Milles at Bloomfield Hills, Mich., near Detroit.
FATHER TESTIFIES AT HEARING
ON N. L. NULSEN'S SANITY
He Says Son Has Idea He Is Being Persecuted by Terminal Railroad.
A jury in Probate Court began hearing testimony today in the suit of Orla M. Hill, a lawyer, to ban Norman L. Nulsen, former president of the St. Louis Terminal Warehouse Co., declared of unsound mind. Hill said to a Post-Dispatch reporter that he was attorney for Nulsen's father, Albert G. Nulsen Sr., of Indianapolis, Ind.
The jury was called at Norman Nulsen's request. Although not asked for by him, an attorney, James A. Ryan, was appointed to defend him from Probate Judge Glendy B. Arnold. Nulsen, 39 years old, cross-examined his father, the first witness for the plaintiff.
After telling of his son's success in the pigment and warehouse businesses, the elder Nulsen said he was now supporting his son. The son, he continued, was obsessed with the idea he was being persecuted by the Terminal Railroad through competition in the warehouse business, and feared a plot to have him killed. Father and son appeared to be on friendly terms in the courtroom.
Offered in evidence in the plaintiff's behalf were a pamphlet alleged to have been distributed by Norman Nulsen, attacking two lawyers; a letter said to have been sent to President Roosevelt by Nulsen, asking for a Government investigation of the Terminal Railroad "persecution," and Nulsen's will, dated in 1933, requesting an autopsy in the event of his accidental death.

CONTINENTAL SHARES
LIQUIDATION ORDER Court Directs Formation of New Company to Handle Affairs of Eaton Concern.
By the Associated Press.
BALTIMORE, May 10.—A liquidation order, signed by a Baltimore Circuit Court Judge, completed the downfall yesterday of Continental Shares, Inc., holding company founded by Cyrus Eaton and once capitalized at more than $100,000,000.
Judge Edwin T. Dickerson ordered the formation of a new corporation to handle liquidation of the investment trust which has been in receivership since 1933.
Several millions of dollars worth of assets, including large holdings of stock in iron and rubber companies, are involved.
Early in February, Judge Dickerson approved a reorganization plan for the corporation, but it failed yesterday after opposing groups of stockholders continued their disagreements.
The two principal stockholders groups and the Maryland and Ohio receivers will be equally represented on the board of the liquidating corporation.
Eaton, Cleveland financier, testified before the Securities Commission in February that use of proxies by Continental's management influenced the merger which produced Republic Steel Corporation. He testified also that a tie-up between Continental, Foreign Utilities Ltd. of Toronto, and Otis & Co., New York investment bankers, enabled the three to use a $35,000,000 bank loan virtually at the same time.
Eaton told the commission Continental was flourishing when he and W. R. Burwell lost control of it to a group of Cleveland banks in 1931. Eaton was board chairman and Burwell was president.
When the banks took over, the corporation had book assets of $100,000,000, Eaton asserted, whereas when the corporation went into receivership two years later, the assets had shrunk to $16,000,000.
Eaton contended the difference between the assets in 1931 and 1933 could be traced to bank policies, started in good faith, which failed. S. E. C. officials sought to show the higher valuation represented "watered stock."
WINNING ESSAY ON AIR MAIL
James Gray Jr. of McBride High to Get Trip to Washington.
An essay by James Gray Jr., McBride High School junior, has been adjudged the best of 6000 entries from Missouri in a nation-wide contest held in connection with National Air Mail week, which will be observed from May 15-21.
Gray, 16 years old, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gray, 6741 Crest avenue, University City, will be given a round-trip flight to Washington, where his entry will be considered in the national contest Sunday. The theme of the essays, limited to 250 words, is the present and potential importance of air mail service to national needs.

TURPIN ESTATE SUIT
UNDER ADVISEMENT
Testimony Ends in Action to Set Aside Negro J. P.'s $105,000 Trust.
A suit to set aside a $105,000 trust established in 1932 by the late Justice of the Peace Charles H. Turpin, a Negro, for benefit ultimately of young Negroes seeking education, was taken under advisement by Circuit Judge Eugene J. Sartorius today at the close of testimony.
If assets of the trust are held to be part of Turpin's estate they will go to his son C. Udell Turpin of Chicago, a lawyer and custodian of a National Guard armory. Otherwise the income from the principal asset, 700 shares of American Telephone & Telegraph stock, will go to the elder Turpin's sister, Mrs. Nannie Turpin Thomas of Webster Groves, beneficiary of the trust, which would be used for the education of Negroes after her death.
Much of the testimony adduced in an effort to upset the trust was designed to show that Turpin was influenced unduly by his sister. Several witnesses testified he had reached a conclusion, drawn from alleged remarks by the sister, that Udell was not his son.
The sister, Mrs. Thomas, denied that she had influenced Turpin in any way.
Other witnesses testified the Justice of the Peace was a man of strong will, not easily influenced. His former wife, Mrs. Maude Oswald, told Judge Sartorius that Udell was in fact Charles Turpin's son.
Paternity of Udell Turpin was not at issue in the suit. He has been declared by Probate Court to be the son of Charles Turpin.

WOMAN ACCUSED OF DRIVING
CARELESSLY FINED $250 Charge Based on Collision in Which Auto Overtaken and Two Persons Were Injured.
Mrs. Lillian Cain, 22 years old, 6733 Garner avenue, was fined $250 and costs by Police Judge James F. Nangle today on a charge of careless driving. The charge grew out of a collision at McCausland and Dale avenues April 11 in which the other automobile was upset, injuring two occupants.
Richard Mederacke, 59, a building contractor, 3500 Halliday avenue, was fined $150 on a charge of speeding in his truck on Kingshighway at West 24th boulevard, April 26. It was his seventh conviction for speeding since 1930. He appealed.
John Kotnik, a baker, 4415 Laclede avenue, was fined $350 on a charge of careless driving in a collision at Taylor and Chouteau avenues March 20, in which another machine was overturned and several persons injured. He appealed.
BOAT EMPLOYE'S BODY FOUND
Floyd McDaniel Fell Into River
From Government Steamer.
The body of Floyd McDaniel, who fell overboard from the Steamer Iowa, a Government towboat on which he was employed, on the night of March 22, was recovered from the Mississippi River at the foot of Potomac street yesterday. McDaniel, 23 years old, lived at Cairo, Ill. He disappeared from the boat as it was passing Leapers street. The body was identified at the morgue today by his brother-in-law, Joseph Sneed, 5419 Rellie avenue.

BROWNS 6, SENATORS 5 (6 Innings); DODGERS 5, CARDS 1 (3 1/2 Innings)

KRESS HITS TRIPLE, DOUBLE AND SINGLE, DRIVES IN TWO RUNS

By Herman Wecke.
Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Buck Newsum, the big right-hander who has gained three of the five decisions gained by the Browns this season, went to the hill this afternoon against the Senators in an effort to break the club's losing streak, which now has reached seven straight. He drew Elton Hoesett, who could not retire a man as a member of the Browns, but who has won two out of three for the Senators, as his opponent.

Newsum was on the hill because he asked to pitch. He went to the mound this morning and said: "Gaby, I'll break this losing streak. Let me work today." And Gaby took the big fellow at his word and sent him to the hill.

With a left-hander on the hill for the enemy Tommy Heath was behind the bat for the Browns. He hit in eighth place, with McQuinn moving to second and Hughes to seventh.

Threatening weather held down the attendance to about 2000.

McGowan and Hubbard were the umpires.

The Browns depart immediately after the game for Philadelphia, where they open a series tomorrow.

The game:

FIRST INNING—BROWNS—Mills singled to left. Myer threw at McQuinn. Cliff walked. Bell singled to center, scoring Mills and sending Cliff to third. West forced Bell. Kress popped to Travis. Cliff scored. Kress' pop fly fell in center for a single. West taking third. Hoesett tossed out Hughes. TWO RUNS.

SENATORS—Almada filed to Mills. So did Lewis. Case was called out on strikes. NO RUNS.

SECOND—BROWNS—Myer threw out Heath. Travis threw out Newsum. Mills struck out.

SENATORS—Bonura singled to center. Stone fouled to Cliff. Travis struck out. Myer walked. R. Ferrell struck out.

THIRD—BROWNS—Myer threw out McQuinn. Cliff filed to Stone. Bell walked. West doubled off the wall in left-center. Bell scored. Kress doubled to right. West scored. Hughes struck out. TWO RUNS.

SENATORS—Wright batted for Hoesett and was called out on strikes. Kress threw out Almada. Kress hit a home run over the right-field fence. Case bunted and Newsum threw him out. ONE RUN.

FOURTH—BROWNS—Kohlman went in Gto pitch for the Senators. Travis threw out Heath. Newsum grounded to Bonura, unassisted. Mills popped to Myer.

SENATORS—Kress threw Bonura. Stone popped to Kress. Travis singled to left. Myer walked. R. Ferrell tripled over the left-field fence, scoring Travis and Myer. Kohlman tapped in front of the plate and was thrown out by Newsum. TWO RUNS.

FIFTH—BROWNS—McQuinn bled to Stone. Cliff struck out. Bell filed to Case.

SENATORS—Almada was out. McQuinn unassisted. Lewis fouled to Heath. Cliff threw out Case.

SIXTH—BROWNS—West singled to center. Kress tripled to hit center-field corner for his third straight hit, scoring West. Hughes struck out. Travis threw out Heath. Kress scoring. Newsum struck out but had to be thrown out. R. Ferrell to Bonura. TWO RUNS.

SEVENTH—BROWNS—Myer filed to West. Kress ran into short left field but missed Stone's pop fly and went for a two-base hit. Newsum knocked down Travis' hot smash and tossed him out. Myer walked for the third time. R. Ferrell doubled to the left-center field fence, scoring Stone and Myer. Gossin bled for Kohlman and walked.

Almada walked, filling the bases. Tomlin replaced Newsum on the mound for the Browns. Lewis was called out on strikes. TWO RUNS.

The Real Ball-Player Always Gives His Best

Freddy Fitzsimmons, long a Giant and now a member of the Brooklyn Dodgers' pitching staff, is 37 years old and he is carrying about a bit of "weight for age." But, Freddy always has been "in there trying" and he gave an illustration yesterday of what helps make the great ballplayer. In the fourth inning, Freddy hit safely to center. It looked like an ordinary single and most pitchers would have been quite satisfied but Fitz noticed the Cards were slow in handling the ball and raced for second, making the bag in a headlong slide. The picture shows Fitz, Umpire Magerkurth who called the play and Shortstop Jimmy Brown awaiting the throw.

CARDINALS TRY TO GET PITCHER FROM PHILLIES

By J. Roy Stockton

Branch Rickey, general manager of the Cardinals, today declined to discuss trades the club was considering, but did say that there was "positively nothing to a Mungo trade."

When asked about a report that the Cardinals had offered $25,000, Pitcher Clyde Shoun and Outfielder Tuck Stainback to the Phillies for Pitchers Claude Passeau and Sucky Walters or Wayne LaMaster, Rickey said that he did not want to answer.

"I wish you would withdraw that question," he said. When it was not withdrawn he declined to comment.

Turning to a more likeable subject, Rickey said he'd still stand on his Chamber of Commerce banquet statement of April 18, "if you will quote me correctly."

Qualifying Phrase.

"I said that with the possible exception of pitching, this was the best Cardinal team we have put on the field in 12 years," Rickey declared.

"In quoting me you have left off that qualification about the pitching. Except for the pitching, which now seems to be very much no good, I still say that this is the best Cardinal team in 12 years. I'll bet history puts the yardstick on that statement."

Rickey was asked if he considered the present second base-shortstop combination equal or superior to Hornsby and Thevenow or Frisch and Thevenow or Frisch and Durocher or Gelbert.

"I will take any one or two positions," he replied. "I spoke about the whole picture."

Not a Bad Club.

It was suggested that would be a good idea, to take Bottomley and Frisch and Thevenow and Sparky Adams, and the outfield of Ealey, Douthett and a Watkins who hit .572, but the discussion merely became more involved, so it was dropped.

Rickey said Brooklyn baseball writers called at his office yesterday and indicated that they thought the Cardinals could obtain Mungo from the Dodgers.

"I don't know where they got their information," Rickey said. "But I must say there is nothing to the Mungo trade."

It was reported unofficially that Grimes had told Rickey that Mungo was a "pitcher" who would be sent to Chicago to see the game.

BROWN, WHITE SOX PITCHER, OPERATED ON FOR ARM INJURY

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, May 10.—Clint Brown, ace relief pitcher for the Chicago White Sox, underwent an operation today for the removal of a chipped bone in his salary arm.

"The operation was very successful," said Dr. Phil Kreuscher, "the bone chip being removed without trouble. Brown will remain in the hospital about a week and I think it will be at least three months before he will be able to start pitching again."

Brown finished 43 games for the White Sox last season and already had finished eight of the Sox tilts this year.

PLAN FOR 3-CENT
GASOLINE LEVY
BY AMENDMENTCitizens' Road Assn. Decides to Submit Proposal and 10-Year Program to Voters in November.BROADER THAN STARK MEASUREGovernor Understood to Approve of Substitute for Act Approved by 1937 Legislation.By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.JEFFERSON CITY, May 10.—A decision to submit a proposed constitutional amendment to voters of the State in the November general election, increasing the State gasoline tax from 2 cents to 3 cents a gallon, and outlining a new 10-year State highway construction program, was reached here today by the Citizens' Road Association of Missouri.Recommendations as to the tax increase and road program, submitted by a program-planning committee of 150 members, was adopted at the association's annual convention, held here today. Several moves to revise highway fund allocations proposed in the plan were defeated.The association, a State-wide organization of individuals and groups interested in the development of the highway system, has been considering new financing and a new highway program for several months. About 750 members attended the conference here today.Committee Authorized.
R. S. Brownlee of Brookfield, former member of the State Highway Commission and president of the association, was authorized to appoint committees and take the necessary steps for immediate drafting of the proposed amendment in its final form, circulation of initiatured petitions to place the proposition on the ballot of the November election, and to raise funds to finance a campaign for adoption of the amendment in the election.The new program provides not only for additional revenue but for additional major and supplemental road construction, a new system of apportioning highway funds, including allotments to the cities, for the first time; additional traffic relief roads, and broadens some of the powers of the State Highway Commission.The proposal is designed as a substitute for Gov. Stark's administration measure, passed by the 1937 Legislature, increasing the gasoline tax to 3 cents. This law, which was to become effective in December, when the present constitutional limitation on any increase in gasoline tax expires, will be subjected to a referendum in the November election, through initiative petitions filed by opponents.Would Go Into Constitution.
The Governor is understood to be in accord with the new proposal, which is much broader in its provisions than the act passed at the Governor's request, and would place the new provisions in the Constitution. Both proposals will be on the initiative and referendum ballot of the general election in November.Proponents of an enlarged highway program have been doubtful whether the Governor's measure would be ratified in the referendum, due to the opposition. They hope to overcome this opposition through the broader program in the new proposal, which includes provisions to both the cities and rural territory.Lawyers advising the committee have taken the position the constitutional amendment would take precedence over the law being referred, if both should be approved in the November election.The existing constitutional limitation on any increase in the present 2-cent gasoline tax expires on Dec. 1, 1938. It was included in a constitutional amendment authorizing an additional State road bond issue of $75,000,000. That amendment also prevented any increase in State motor vehicle registration fees. The limitation expires at the same time as the bar to a gasoline tax increase.Provisions Recommended.
Provisions recommended for incorporation in the proposed amendment are as follows:Fixing the State tax on motor vehicle fuels at 3 cents a gallon for a period of 10 years and providing that the State license fees for passenger cars shall not be changed during the same period. This leaves the Legislature free to increase truck license fees. An emergency exception will be included authorizing the Legislature to increase motor vehicle fuel and passenger license fees, if road revenues should prove inadequate to meet bond and interest requirements.Dividing the State highway system into two classes.

HERMITAGE MUSEUM DIRECTOR
IN DISFAVOR WITH SOVIETSI. A. Orbell Accused by Communist Paper of Neglecting Great Art Collection.By the Associated Press.
MOSCOW, May 10.—I. A. Orbell, director of the world famous Hermitage Museum in Leningrad, has fallen into disfavor on charges of neglecting the great art collection.The museum, in the former winter palace, houses more than a million art objects, including the largest collection of Rembrandt's paintings, and employs 800 persons, including 150 scientific experts.Pravda, the Communist organ, charged that Orbell had permitted priceless paintings to be spoiled by fluctuations of temperature and humidity and rain from a leaky roof.Experts to succeed the elderly museum staff had not been trained, the newspaper said, so that few art restorers are left, nor are there any catalogues, guidebooks or recent writings about the museum and its treasures.Moreover, said Pravda, the Western European section of the museum smelled of stables of a cavalry school underneath while odors from a wine cellar pervaded another section. Pravda suggested the cavalry school's space should be devoted to a rich but undis-played collection of eighteenth century carriages and harness.ARCHDUKE OUSTED FROM HOUSE OF HAPSBURG FOR MARRIAGEAnnouncement of Penalty for Taking Commoner as Bride Made by Hungarian Aunt.By the Associated Press.
BUDAPEST, May 10.—Archduke
Albrecht married a commoner yesterday and lost his place in the ancient House of Hapsburg.Expulsion of the Archduke from the family dominant in Europe for 700 years was announced shortly after he married Katherine Eusebia, 27-year-old country school teacher and daughter of a small town mechanic. It was disclosed in a statement by Count Josef Hun-yadi, representative in Hungary of Archduke Otto, head of the House of Hapsburg and pretender to the non-existent throne of Austria.Count Hunyadi said that "King and Emperor Otto" several years ago issued a circular letter to all members of the Hapsburg family reminding them that if they should marry beneath their rank they au-tomatically would cease to be members of the Imperial House."Since Archduke Albrecht concluded a messalliance he therefore ceased to be a member of the House of Hapsburg," the Count said.
Albrecht, who looks younger than his 40 years, was married in 1930 to Mme. Irene de Rudnay, divorced wife of a Hungarian diplomat. But that marriage, which ended in divorce, took place before Otto issued his warning letter. Moreover, it was a civil ceremony and therefore unrecognized under the Hapsburg family law.The Archduke's marriage yesterday was a religious ceremony in the 1000-year-old abbey at Fann-balma. Civil rites were held Saturday.CANADIAN REPORT FAVORS FUTURES GRAIN TRADINGDominion Parliament Is Told That Voluntary Wheat Pools Should Be Encouraged.By the Associated Press.
OTTAWA, Ont., May 10.—Free marketing and the continuance of the futures trading system of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange were recommended yesterday by Justice W.
F. A. Turgeon in his report on grain and grain marketing, presented in the Canadian House of Commons by Trade Minister W. D. Eisler.The report is the result of the Justice's investigation as a royal commissioner extending over more than a year.

Findings in the report included:

A compulsory Government wheat board is not practical.The futures trading system at Winnipeg should be continued subject to supervision of the exchange by a competent officer under the Board of Grain Commissioners.Voluntary flexible wheat pools, selling in the open market under conditions and with, not against, the trade, should be encouraged.Under normal conditions Canada's marketing policy, the report said, should be to continue futures trading and encourage the building up of producers' co-operatives after the pattern of the Australian pools.(The Australian pools are voluntary organizations in which members promise to deliver 50 per cent of their wheat to the co-operative.
There is no penalty for failure to deliver except loss of membership.)POPE ASSISTS AT MEETING

10-POWER PACT
FOR ARMED PEACEFormer Head of British Admiralty Wants England and France to Head New Entente.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, May 10.—Winston Churchill offered a plan last night for armed peace based on League of Nations principles.The wartime chief of British sea forces, in a speech at Manchester, began a country-wide campaign to organize a non-party movement dedicated to formation of a ten-Power entente within the League covenant.The Manchester gathering was the first of a series under the guidance of the League of Nations union, calling on the world in Churchill's words—to "arm and stand by the covenant."Churchill said he would like to see France and Britain "go to all the smaller states that are menaced, that are going to be devoured one by one by Nazi tyranny, and say to them 'We aren't going to help you if you aren't going to help yourselves. Are you prepared to take special service in defense of the covenant?'"The states he listed as possible members of the entente were Yugoslavia, Rumania, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Greece and Turkey—with the way left open for aid from Soviet Russia in the event of war.Italy Might Co-operate.
He said that Italy also might cooperate eventually in such an alliance, adding "if we could get as far as that, the war danger would be removed perhaps for our lifetime and the United States would signal her encouragement and sympathy."Formation of a combination of nations "for mutual defense against a probable aggressor," Churchill said, was a "highest moral duty and virtue.""We must gather together around the joint strength of Britain and France and under authority of a league of countries prepared to resist and if possible prevent acts of violent aggression," he declared.
"There is the path to safety and there is the only guarantee of freedom."He condemned any peace pact with Germany which might return its war-lost colonies or result in muzzling the British press.
"That policy," he asserted, "is one which would be disgraceful and disastrous. In the first place it would lead us straight to war. We should be helplessly gagged, apparently consenting spectators to the errors which would spread through Central Europe."

By the Associated Press.

BRENNER PASS, May 10.—
Fuehrer Hitler's special train, carrying him homeward from a nine-day trip to visit Premier Mussolini in Italy, crossed into Germany at 8:25 a. m. today. The Austrian-German Governor, Arthur Seyss-Inquart, welcomed the Fuehrer at the frontier.On reaching German soil, the Fuehrer telegraphed his thanks to King Vittorio Emanuele and Queen Elene for their hospitality."Ever memorable will be the hearty reception accorded me by the Fascist people and the demonstrations of Italian military forces which are above all praise," he said."My sojourn at places of an awe-inspiring past and of a proud self-conscious present will rank among the most valuable remembrances in my life."He sent similar messages to Premier Mussolini and Crown Prince Umberto, assuring Mussolini that the "ideologies of the Fascist and National Socialist movements are guarantees that the true comradeship connecting us will be forever carried into our nations."Mussolini Says Good-by With Fireworks and Singing.By the Associated Press.
FLORENCE, Italy, May 10.—
Adolf Hitler's train pulled out of Florence last midnight to start for Brenner Pass, the Alpine gateway to Italy.Premier Mussolini told Hitler good-by with a surprise spectacle which rivaled all the other grand events of his stay in Italy. As the Fascist and Nazi dictators reached the railway station, a barrage of fireworks burst from the station roof, illuminating the sky for miles around. A chorus of 10, 000 children, uniformed and lined up row on row against the nearby fountains, sang a farewell to Hitler.
Colored floodlights played on the square, bands played and thousands of troops formed a final honor guard for the departing guest.Hitler wore an expression of boyish pleasure and bewilderment when the fireworks shot up and the singing began. Then he stepped aboard his special train and headed for home.The program in Florence in his honor was a crowded one. The last

COOL RECEPTION IN PRESS

The press gave Churchill's speech a cool reception, some reporting it curtly and others lengthily but buried among obituaries. Only the liberal News-Chronicle recognized his plea with editorial comment.Churchill has given a magnificent answer to the deafening accuse that he has surrounded the country's leaders like a foul miasma," the News-Chronicle said. "The claron call which he has sounded will find an echo in millions of British homes now dismayed by Government feebleness."Ultimate success of Churchill's plan could mean defeat of the conservative Government, overthrow of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain or an upheaval in Government policy.Speaking when a Cabinet reshuffle is in the air through Colonial Secretary Ormsby-Gore's successor to a peerage and on the eve of a critical air force debate in the House of Commons Thursday, Churchill denied he was campaigning against the Government or against the opposition parties.But he left political circles still guessing whether he aims to oust the Chamberlain Cabinet or find a place in it for himself.

FRENCH LINE STRIKE ENDS

Marine Ministry Had Insisted That Service Be Maintained.PARIS, May 10.—Louis de Chappedelaine, Minister of Merchant Marine, announced French Line strikers had gone back to their posts after a meeting today which ended in "complete accord."The ministry, acting under orders from Premier Daladier, had told French Line officers and strikers that the Government was determined to maintain the vital service.
Lines had been held here since last Wednesday, when stewards on the Champlain, complaining of the cut and color of their uniforms, walked out. Chappedelaine said the

LIKELY TO RELEASE
WAGE-HOUR BILLTwo Republicans, Previous-

Are Willing for Committee to Report It.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—A switch of two Republican members of the Rules Committee may bring the controversial wage-hour bill before the House, early next week.
Representatives Maper (Rep.),
Michigan, and McClean (Rep.),
New Jersey, who previously had helped block the legislation, said last night they were willing to let the house vote in advance of May 23, the date on which a petition would force the bill to the floor."People want Congress to adjourn," said Maper. "A majority of the House has clearly indicated that it wants to vote on the bill.
There is nothing to be gained in delay."Would Reverse Decision.
His statement, in which McClean concurred, indicated they would support the O'Connor resolution to waive the rules and permit the bill to be called up at any time.
Their votes would reverse the 8-to-6 ballot by which the Rules Committee refused to give the legislation right-of-way.Other committee opponents of the wage-hour bill—five Southern Democrats and one Southern Republican—gave no hint that they would change their viewpoint.If the committee approves the O'Connor resolution, the bill probably will come before the House next Monday. Leaders did not expect to take it up this week because of the debate over the administration's three billion dollars lending-appeal bill.Although President Roosevelt's lieutenants were confident the House would approve the wage-hour legislation, a rough course lay ahead of its final enactment.Differences Between Two Houses.
The House bill provides for a graduated scale of labor standards beginning with a minimum wage of 25 cents an hour and a maximum work week of 44 hours. The Senate passed a bill last summer, however, permitting a board to fix maximum wages up to 40 cents an hour and a maximum work week of 40 hours or more.Because of the differences between the two bills, the Senate either would have to agree to the House provisions or ask that a Joint Committee work out a compromise.Administration leaders expressed concern that Senate opponents would try to prevent appointment of such a committee. Senator Barkeley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, said it could not be determined how much opposition there would be for a six-hour day and a five-day week.The French Government plan was incorporated in a resolution submitted by the United States Government delegate, Ralph J. Watkins, and delegates of six other governments. The conference adopted the resolution with the employers' group abstaining, thereby placing the question of hours on the agenda of the 1939 international labor conference.Secretary of Labor Perkins Says

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Capt.
Royal E. Ingersoll, chief of the navy's war plans division, who worked with British naval authorities in evolving a program for bigger battleships, was promoted today to the rank of Rear Admiral.
President Roosevelt sent his name to the Senate for confirmation, and when the Senate approves his new rank, Ingersoll will be sent to San Pedro, Cal., to command the Sixth Cruiser Division, consisting of four heavy cruisers.It was Ingersoll who went to London during the winter to confer with British navy officials on the British big battleship program and the projected naval program of this country. He was still in England when the congressional hearings on the big navy bill opened, and some Congressmen sought to bring out that Capt. Ingersoll's conversations leaned toward a naval entente between the two countries.
The Government said his talks were solely exploratory.He was director of the war plans division of the navy, it has been Ingersoll's duty to draw up plans of battle for any prospective war, even the most remote.He was born in Washington 54 years ago, the son of the late Rear Admiral Royal Rodney Ingersoll.
He was educated at the Naval Academy, and during the World War received the navy cross for his work in organizing the communications office of the Navy Department. In 1935 he accompanied Admiral Standley to the London Naval Conference which opened in the London naval treaty of 1936.

Foreign Policy and Domestic Peace

NAPOLEON said, "Politics is destiny," and it becomes increasingly clear that the foreign policies of governments are being determined by the way they live their lives and settle their internal affairs.

The most conspicuous example of this is, perhaps, Great Britain. The British foreign policy has been determined by the fear of war—and particularly by the fear of modern aerial warfare, which for the first time makes the British Isles vulnerable to attack, no matter how much Britain may control the sea—and by long-delayed rearmament, and reorganization of the army.

This fear of war has led Britain to a point by point every detail that might bring her into conflict with the more aggressive nations.

It resulted in the Chamberlain-Hitler decision to allow Central Europe as easily as possible into Germany's grasp; to carry on contentedly the selling out process with other people's property rather than colonies; to give France the strongest military alliance that has ever existed, while retaining her from backing any of her allies; to urge Germany against Russia in the east and Italy in the west; and, finally, by the policy of divide and rule, to get by for the time being.

Leaving out of account the eventual results of this policy in the foreign field, it is having a decisive effect on British institutions at home. The people of England do not like this policy, and they realize that they pay for it by the suppression of their own institutions.

I doubt if ever in times of so-called peace the British press has been so shackled, so paralyzed, by the censorship exerted by the British Government as of a different type than that exercised by the dictators, but it is extremely effective.

The British newspapers and publications are asked voluntarily to withhold articles that might be of offensive to the Fascist Powers.

Since to be on hostile terms with the Foreign Office and with other branches of the Government is disadvantageous to any public enterprise, and since the Government and the powerful financial "City" work closely together and have ways of bringing pressure on advertisers, the newspapers may fume internally but to a great extent they switch themselves into line.

This affects not only editorials but news reports. To take an example, the factual story of the conquest of Austria was available to British newspapers, but it has never been told in complete detail.

A distinguished British novelist, contributions from whose pen are usually welcome in the British press, and who happened to be in Austria at the time of the conquest, found it impossible to place in English newspapers either her own story of what she saw or her plea for Austrian refugees.

One of the most brilliant writers in England, who happens to be a specialist and expert student of affairs in Southeastern Europe, finds it almost impossible to get the viewpoint or even the facts about the Southeastern countries set forth in any British publication.

Now freedom of expression, opinion and news is a basic English institution, as it is in this country, and on it rests as firmly as on any single pillar the strength of the parliamentary system. And despite this voluntary censorship, people do get news. They get it in all countries, even in the dictatorships. But the effect on the people of believing that their government shuts them out from facts is alarming. The public begins to believe the worst of the parliamentary system, and the result of this is the radicalization of people who have all their lives believed in the democratic process.

There is a terrific feeling that the foreign policy of England is leading to the degradation of English internal institutions.

The same is true in France, where it is the weakness of the Government's foreign policy, rather than insoluble domestic issues, that has split the people into camps and led to a terrific moral and political disintegration.

Now Britain and France together, in an effort to conciliate Czechoslovakia and Germany, are demanding that the Czech Government make every possible effort to placate the German minority—this in spite of the immediate illustration from backing any of her allies; to urge Germany against Russia in the east and Italy in the west; and, finally, by the policy of divide and rule, to get by for the time being.

The Czech Government which, with the complete abandonment of collective security and the sanctity of treaties, is on a fearful spot, dares not suppress the Nazi propaganda in the German areas against the advice of the powerful Western countries. And the Nazi leader, Konrad Henlein, is doing precisely what the Austrian Nazis did—staging one big Nazi festival and demonstration after another, receiving warm congratulatory telegrams from Dr. Josef Goebbels, and flaunting the swastika in front of the Czech population, while the police, urged by Prague to be careful, show considerable tolerance.

Now this is the most dangerous possible situation, because this happens in a state in which the majority are not Nazis and not Germans, and the policy over the week-end report that the Czech population is becoming outraged and excited and is likely to take matters into their own hands.

And the result of open clashes between the Czech and German populations would certainly not contribute to the conciliation and peace for which the Chamberlain Government still hopes.

We certainly have a most fantastic situation in the world when certain Powers are permitted to speak categorically and suppress ruthlessly any attempt to interfere in their internal and domestic affairs, while at the same time, they make it a policy to interfere in the internal and domestic affairs of other nations.

The world simply cannot go on like this. For the operation of this policy will lead to civil strife inside all countries, whether it leads to armed conflicts between nations or not.

As a desperate attempt to avoid the risk of an international war, the democratic countries are taking upon themselves the far greater risk of internal revolution.

And this reminds me again that many years ago a German writer, a precursor of the Nazis, in a book called "The Third Reich," made the prophecy: "What we lost by the war, we will win by revolution." Other people's revolutions!

LOYALIST SPEAKERS SAY SPAIN CAN WIN

Plea for Sale of Arms by Other Nations Made at Sheldon Memorial Meeting.

Four representatives of the Spanish loyalists asserted in speeches last night at Sheldon Memorial that their Government can hold out indefinitely in the war against the Franco faction and will win in the end, but would achieve quick victory if it could buy arms from the United States and other nations.

Admitting that the Government forces are hard pressed, they declared this only stiffens the resistance of the united Spanish loyalists, whose military situation, the speakers said, is not as bad as news reports make it appear.

The meeting was held under the auspices of the St. Louis Medical Bureau of the American Friends of Spanish Democracy, with Dr. Sol Londe presiding. Many Spaniards were in the audience of about 300, admitted at 35 cents each. In response to a plea for funds to aid medical service in the war areas of Spain, the audience contributed $250.

Members of the Spanish delegation were Ramon J. Sender, novelist; Ofier Pretecelle, labor leader and writer; Mrs. Carmen Meana, Madrid social worker, and Jose Bergamin, editor of Crus y Raya, a Catholic religious journal.

Speeches Translated.

All except Pretecelle spoke in Spanish, their remarks being translated, clause by clause, by Harry Robinson of the New York headquarters of the North American Friends of Spanish Democracy who travels with the delegation.

Sender, a short, dark man, with black hair and wrinkled brow, spoke sternly of the determination of the Spanish people to preserve their republic. He wore a light gray suit and kept his hands in his trousers pockets as he spoke.

He had served in the trenches and told of meeting there professors from some of the leading universities of Spain.

Without the aid of Italy and Germany, Gen. Franco could not continue the war against the republic government for 24 hours, he declared. He spoke the thanks of the Spanish people for ambulances and medical supplies sent from the United States, but said much more help was needed.

Speaking in fluent English, Pretecelle, small, slightly gray, dressed in black, pleaded for the lifting of the United States embargo against the sale of war supplies to Spain. He declared the Spaniards are fighting a war for peace, "for yourselves"—the people of the United States—and that by international law the recognized government of Spain, which is the republic, is entitled to purchase from other nations the arms it needs to defend itself. Repetition of this legal right was what Spain was seeking, he declared.

Says Others Would Follow.

If the United States would take the lead, France and Great Britain would follow, he predicted, and the abundant military supplies the victory would soon be won. He, too, deplored the prevalence in the United States of the view that the loyalist cause seems to be lost.

Miss Dorothy Frances Bright, granddaughter of F. R. Bright, 310 South Euclid avenue, has completed plans for her marriage Tuesday, May 31, to Douglas King Condie. The ceremony will be performed at 5 o'clock in the afternoon at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Ferguson. The Rev. Kenneth N. Helm will read the service. The pair will dispense with a reception, and leave immediately afterward for a wedding trip.

Miss Bright will be attended by Mrs. Frances Greenup, and Mr. Condie's brother, Churchill Clarke Condie, will be best man. Another brother, Herbert Douglas Condie Jr., and Eugene de Penaloza, Alfred C. Carr Jr. and Karl Koehler will be ushers.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Douglas Condie, "Kinghurst," 40 North Elizabeth avenue, Ferguson.

Mrs. George Castleman Mackay, 2683 Lindell boulevard, will entertain the Creative Writing Club Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock at her home. Mrs. Virgil Ruel will read an original play, "Three Score and Ten." Guest of honor at the meeting will be Madam Elizabeth Aramoff of Chicago, formerly of Russia and later of St. Louis. Madam Aramoff is back in St. Louis as the guest of Mrs. Eugene

Robinson, a forceful speaker, young and earnest, made the appeal for contributions. He appealed all who are interested in the loyalist cause to telegraph or write to President Roosevelt, Secretary of State Hull and members of Congress to ask for revision of neutrality legislation so as to permit shipment of military supplies to the Spanish Government.

Bergamin, speaking briefly, made no reference to his work as editor of a Catholic journal. He denounced Gen. Franco's tactics in bringing in Moorish soldiers to slaughter Spanish people. He, too, begged for help "before it is too late."

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Married in Kansas

MRS. FREDERICK HUMPHREY SEMPLE of Price and Edgewood roads will leave Thursday for Rochester, N. Y., to attend the commencement exercises of the Rochester Technology Institute, from which her son, Frederick H. Semple, will be graduated Saturday.

Mrs. Semple will return to St. Louis early next week. Her son will go to Ruxton, Md., to visit his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Wahmann Ness. Mrs. Ness was formerly Miss Anne Farrar, but would achieve quick victory if it could buy arms from the United States and other nations.

Miss Mary Jane Stonehouse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey B. Stonehouse, Detroit, Mich., has chosen Tuesday, June 7, for her marriage to Harvey Hilmy Sims Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey H. Sims, 85 Arundel place. The ceremony will take place at the Stonehouse summer home at Belle River, Ontario.

Miss Stonehouse was hostess at a party this week-end for members of her bridal party and additional out-of-town guests. Among the parties were a breakfast on the beach and a luncheon at the Detroit Yacht Club. Mr. Sims will be graduated from the United States Naval Academy next month.

Mrs. Kenneth Greeley Carpenter, 6885 Alexander drive, will return home by Saturday of the week, following several months' travel abroad with her daughter, Miss Carol. They landed in New York Saturday aboard the President Harding. Mrs. Carpenter is spending a few days with her mother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Perry, at Bronxville, N. Y., and Miss Carol is with her fiancé's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin H. Gates, of Montclair, N. J. She is expected home next Tuesday and shortly afterward will announce plans for her marriage to Franklin McKee Gates.

The Carpenters traveled through Egypt, Greece and Italy while abroad.

Two of last winter's debutantes have made plans for a summer in England. Miss Sara Jane Avant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest L. Avant, 6265 Pershing avenue, and Miss Alice Jane Meyer, daughter of Edwin R. Meyer, 6226 Forsythe boulevard, accompanied by Miss Avant's mother, will leave July 10 for Santa Monica, where they will have an apartment for the season.

Mrs. Verner White, 1242 Highland terrace, has as her guest for a few days her sister, Mrs. Walter B. Sharp of Houston, Tex., who arrived today. Mrs. Sharp is on her way East to spend several weeks.

Mrs. Thomas G. Ratcliffe of New York, formerly of St. Louis, will go to Woods Hole, Mass., May 25 to open her summer home. Her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene D. Nims, 626 Portland place, whose estate at Woods Hole is one of the show places of Cape Cod, will remain in St. Louis until early in the summer.

Mrs. Parker H. Woods, 19 Bellevue Acres, will be hostess at a series of three bridge luncheons this month. The first will be given tomorrow at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Woods. The others will be at the Bellevue Country Club Tuesday, May 17, and Tuesday, May 24.

Miss Dorothy Frances Bright, granddaughter of F. R. Bright, 310 South Euclid avenue, has completed plans for her marriage Tuesday, May 31, to Douglas King Condie. The ceremony will be performed at 5 o'clock in the afternoon at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Ferguson. The Rev. Kenneth N. Helm will read the service. 'MY SHEEP' BY ROBERT IMBS WINS ST. LOUIS DRAMA PRIZE

Author Also Praised for His Acting in Play Awarded Second Prize in Contest.

A one act play, "My Sheep," by Robert Imbs, senior in the College of Arts and Sciences at St. Louis University, was the winner of the second annual contest for the drama prize offered by the Rev. Thomas Knapp, dean of the college, last night.

The play was one of four presented by students in the contest. "The Tile Floor," by William Durbin; "Three Minutes to Curtain," by Mary Glasier; and "Boy Gets Girl," by Roger Bacon followed in that order in the awards.

Both Imbs and Durbin, who took parts in each other's plays, were adjudged the best actors of the evening. The plays were chosen from those written for a playwrighting course taught by Dr. M. M. Hartmann. The judges who made the awards were the Rev. Louis F. Doyle, S. J., Mrs. Herbert E. Coulson, Miss Esmeralda Mayes and Mr. and Mrs. James E. Darst.

CHURCHES URGED TO BURY DIFFERENCES

Speaker at Utrecht Meeting Says They Have Not Done Tenth of What They Should.

By the Associated Press.

UTRECHT, The Netherlands, May 10.—An appeal to all churches to bury their differences and unite for an attack on mutual problems opened last night an international conference called to lay the foundation for a world council of churches.

John R. Mott of New York, chairman of the International Missionary Council, voiced the appeal at a public meeting in Utrecht's massive Presbyterian Cathedral.

He drew a pessimistic picture of a world shaken by wars and threats of wars and "unexampled sufferings by many millions of people" of "the suspicion and dread of grave international misunderstandings."

"We come not as pessimists," he said, however, in referring to the more than 60 delegates assembled from many countries.

Mott placed upon the churches themselves some of the responsibilities for the problems besetting the world, declaring that individually and collectively they had "not done one-tenth of what they might have done."

Other speakers on the same theme were church leaders from Denmark and The Netherlands. The English Archbishop of York was elected chairman of the conference, which is composed of churchmen representing a provisional committee named to frame a constitution for the world-wide council.

The delegates will sit in executive session for three days. No public announcement of their work is expected until the end of the conference Thursday night or Friday. The delegates will make a report outlining a world council, which will be submitted to churches for approval.

The council may not be established for a year or two, after which it would meet possibly every five years.

Department of Agriculture Raises Estimate 28,446,
000 Bushels to 754,153,
000 Bushels or 69,041,
000 Above Year Ago.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The Agriculture Department reported today that conditions on May 1 indicated the 1938 winter wheat crop would total 754,000,000 bushels, the second largest production on record.

The department added, however, that weather conditions during the next 30 days might change prospects.

"Present surplus soil moisture conditions are favorable," the department said, "but extensive measurements indicate a lack of subsurface moisture over a considerable portion of the Western great plains area and emphasize the dependence of the crop in these areas on favorable weather conditions during the next 30 days."

"The favorable season today has produced a rank plant development, generally over the country, consequently, more moisture than usual will be necessary to mature the crop and the danger of lodging is enhanced."

A month ago 725,707,000 bushels were indicated. Production was 1,02,000 bushels last year. Average production was 546,396,000 bushels during the 10 years 1927-36. Indicated yield is 14.9 bushels an acre, compared with 14.6 last year and 14.5, the 10-year average. Winter wheat acreage sown in 1938 was 57,816,000, of which 50,676,000 acres remain for harvest, with abandonment totaling 11.6 per cent. Acreage sown for the 1937 crop was 57,612,000, remaining for harvest 49,460,000 acres, and abandonment 13.2 per cent. The 1927-36 average was 48,644,000 acres, remaining for harvest 37,281,000 acres, and abandonment 18.2 per cent. Total production of 51,755,000 bushels was indicated from May 1 conditions compared with 49,449,000 bushels last year, and 36,454,000 bushels, the 10-year average. Indicated yield is 12.8 bushels an acre, compared with 12.9 last year, and 12.8, the 10-year average.

Crop by States.
The condition of hay on May 1 was 84 per cent of a normal, compared with 73 a year ago, and 79, the 10-year average. Pasture condition was 82 per cent of a normal, compared with 69 a year ago, and 75, the 10-year average. Stocks of hay on farms May 1 totaled 12,724,000 tons, or 15.3 per cent of last year's crop, compared with 4,047,000 tons and 8.6 per cent in 1937, and 9,000,000 and 11.5 per cent, the 10-year average. Indicated production of winter wheat by States producing states in 1938: Pennsylvania 20,292,000 bushels; Ohio 27,000; Indiana 34,720,000; Illinois 30,000; Michigan 15,690,000; Iowa 38,000; Missouri 38,616,000; Nebraska 15,145,000; Kansas 192,777,000; Kentucky 7,742,000; Oklahoma 69,718,000; Texas 39,580,000; Montana 15,190,000; Wyoming 13,309,000; Colorado 11,928,000; Oregon 31,200,000; California 15,946,000. Total 1,036,000; Indiana 1,820,000; Illinois 1,305,000; Michigan 1,714,000; Wisconsin 3,950,000; Minnesota 10,000; Iowa 1,574,000; North Dakota 2,000; South Dakota 8,242,000; Nebraska 4,320,000.

Canadian Planting "Intentions."
OTTAWA, Ont., May 10.—A decrease of nearly 1,400,000 acres in area sown to spring grains in Canada in 1938 was indicated by the Bureau of Statistics first report of the present season today.

For all Canada, the intended acreage for 1938 as reported at 1, follow, with 1937 acreages brackets: Spring wheat 24,105,000 (24,851,000); oats, 12,690,900 (8,500); barley, 4,121,400 (4,331); spring rye, 176,800 (198,400); feed, 192,700 (241,300); mixed, 1,119,900 (1,128,200); potatoes, 511,000 (531,200).

Title Insurance Dividend.
The Insurance Co. directors declared a dividend of 25 cents a share payable May 31 to stockholders of record May 21. The company disbursed a similar amount in January.

WELL, I'LL TELL YOU—By BOB BURNS

IT STILL hate to buy clothes in the city where there's so many stores and there's so much competition that the salesmen will tell you that you look pretty in pret near anything just to get you to buy it. In a little town where they haven't got but one store, the salesman can afford to give you an honest opinion.

It's like the time down home when a lady went in and picked out one of them new style hats that the ladies are wearin' now and the proprietor said, "All right lady. Do you want me to wrap the hat up or do you want people to start laughin' now?"

ON BROADWAY

with
Walter Winchell

NOTES of a New York Newshy: The last thing Mrs. Henry Ford told her husband, as he left for the White House, was: "Now, Henry, be sure and don't let that man's smile get you off center!" . . . Incidentally, Henry Ford predicts a boom. . . . When—on the Fourth of July? . . . Whatever became of the famous Mafeking quip that Lou Holtz used to tell about the traveler who asked another traveler to tell him the time? . . . It's now a Southern story on the "Oyes" in Judge. . . . E. C. A. Chief Barnoff's recent speech has the Federal Communications Commission stinging.

teeth with tomato soup!

Allen Prescott sums it up this way: Europe has contributed more to the World's Fair than to the World's Fair. . . . Sam Houston III, grandson of the late Texas General is running for office in Okla. His campaign slogan is: "Vote For Me and Take the Smell Out of Politics!" . . . Ted Peckham, whose business is supplying escorts for people (both sexes), writes: "I am very sick of people thinking that I am America's Number One Gigolo. All those stories that I go out for $5000 a night are ridiculous. I go out, and pay, and like it!"

In all fairness to Wallace Beery, this should be given as much circulation as possible. . . . When he is in Germany recently, he made routine appearances for movie trade gatherings. . . . Goebbels' office, however, touched up a photo to show him wearing a swastika on his chest. . . . A London paper got the correct dope in an interview with Beery—but a New York paper pinned a scoop on itself by ignoring it and swallowed the Goebbels' version. . . . More power to Simone Simon, who is going through with her case knowing full well that her secretary told her lawyer as many secrets as she knew—and as many that she didn't.

A Hollywood scripter is complaining that the film "Mad About Music" is exactly the same as his "White Parade." Says it practically is situation for situation—your remember, the one in which Loretta Young played a student nurse who was taunted by her chums about her dream lover and finally adopted John Boles in the precise manner Deanna Durbin adopts Herbert Marshall. . . . The big chuckle is this: Both pictures are rewrites of James M. Barrie's play, "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals." . . . It is the tale of a scrubwoman, who fancies to her chums about a non-existent son's heroism as a soldier. The other scrubwomen, disbelieving, taunt her about him, and she finally adopts a soldier—who wanders into her house—in exactly the same way the heroines, Durbin and Young, did.

In the N. Y. Law Journal of April 23, on page 2045, under the listing of cases entitled: "Undeclared Matrimonial Matters" is listed: "Ebling Brewing Co., Inc., v. Rubel Corporation." . . . First big divorce we've muffed in a long time. . . . We recently checked scallions to our editor in Washington, D. C., and a Mr. Coladay of that Asylum because we heard that a new reporter had been suspended for misspelling Mr. C's name, etc. . . . The source, several reporters there, now regret the whole thing. . . . "We sent it knowing you'd want to help a newspaperman. We are now pained to tell you his suspension was not for the reason told you. If anyone is unjustly punished for being your informant, we all will confess. We bow very low, Walter, and offer our sincerest apologies."

And we bow even lower and offer the reddest face of all to the Washington editor and Mr. What's-his-name.

Along the Potomac

By HARLAN MILLER

WASHINGTON, May 10.

WAR apparently broke out on the playgrounds of a school attended by the tots of many official families here. The five-year-old came home in a militant mood and enunciated a policy which Secretary Hull might as well adopt as the American foreign policy:

"A SECRET IN THE WRONG EAR."

Capital Capers: Trembling with awe, a Western tourist entered the Senate gallery—to find Senator Norris on his feet reciting "Three Blind Mice," Ambassador Trotsky on his feet reciting "The Ball Game" the other day; wait till Stalin hears of that! . . . Representative Scott Lucas, who may be the next Senator from Illinois, was first on the Hill to blossom out in a straw hat; blamed his wife for it.

IN THE FUROR of the Supreme Court fight Senator Bridges, foe of the bill, was stretched out in a chair in the Senate barber shop, his face covered with a hot towel. . . . Into the barber shop galloped Senator Ashurst, valiant defender of the bill, looking for Senator Prentiss Brown of Michigan, who was on the fence, to tell him a secret.

Now, between the curves and contours of Bridges and Brown there is considerable resemblance. . . . Mr. Ashurst espied the shrouded figure in the chair, leaped over and began to whisper a bit of White House strategy, intended for Prentiss, into Bridges' ear.

Bridges didn't bat an eye—or an ear; he didn't move a muscle. Ashurst departed unaware that he had played into the hands of the enemy. Maybe that towel beat the court plan.

IF YOU'RE a stickler for historical accuracy, you won't run around saying that George Washington was the first President. . . . In several offices in the Capital hang pictures of 14 American Presidents who preceded Washington. Their names are Randolph, Middleton, Hancock, Laurens, Jay, Huntington, McKean, Hanson, Boudinot, Mifflin, Lee, Gorham, St. Clair and Griffin.

These gentlemen served as President of the Continental Congress between 1774 and 1789, when that was the highest office; Peyton Randolph was the first. . . . Better phone your tot's teacher and straighten her out; it's a shame to mislead the young.

I HEAR THAT some of the chaps who helled Hitler in Vienna with an insulting phrase ink-stamped on their outstretched palms got down to Rome in time to helle Mussolini and Hitler together. The phrase was a version of "phooey." One was arrested in Vienna, but the others got by O. K., so the story goes.

Details That Affect Plans For Weddings

Bride's Father Allowed to Differ in Attire—Names On Invitations.

By Emily Post

DEAR MRS. POST: There is just one detail of an all-white wedding that is not clear to us. Will you please explain about it. It has been decided that the bride and groom are to wear white dresses and carry white bouquets and the men are to wear white suits. The decorations of the church will be confined to white flowers and greens. But what about my husband, the bride's father? He does not want to wear an all-white suit. He will of course give in if there is nothing else for him to do or spoil the wedding picture.

Answer: It is never necessary that the father of the bride be dressed exactly like the other men in the wedding party. A gray flannel suit, for example, would be very suitable, or a black sack coat with medium gray striped trousers. For that matter, he could even wear a black cutaway but I think something less formal would be more in keeping with the clothes of the ushers.

Dear Mrs. Post: My real name is Marguerite Ann Jones but I have always been called Margaret and by my schoolmates Peggy. Will it be necessary for me to have the name Marguerite on the wedding announcements since it is my real name, or will Margaret Ann be proper? You have said that derivatives are in bad taste for engraving.

Answer: Margaret Ann would be entirely proper. Peggy, on the other hand, would not, because it is too obviously a nickname, and nicknames have no place in formal engraving.

Dear Mrs. Post: I want to save my fiancé the expense of buying so many bridesmaids' bouquets and for this reason thought of having my attendants carry shepherd's crooks. Do you think this is a good idea and will you tell me how they are used?

Answer: It is absolutely incorrect that the bridegroom be expected to buy the bridesmaids' bouquets. They are part of the wedding expenses, just as much so as the decorations of the church and the food that is served at the reception. Shepherd's crooks would be very inappropriate since they have no possible association with weddings. If your family is unwilling or unable to supply the bridesmaids with flowers, they could carry prayer-books or a color becoming to their dresses. But whatever you do, please don't expect your bridegroom to assume expenses which are not his. He does some communities give the bride her bouquet and if he does not give her her bouquet, he gives her a corsage to wear away. He also supplies his ushers and himself with their boutonnières. The bride's father buys his own boutonnières and any flowers worn by his wife. The bridegroom pays the minister's fees, and as soon as the wedding is over all expenses for the honeymoon are his.

FORGOTTEN BRIDE

Sally's Sprightly Grandmother Tells Her They Are Going to Enjoy Life.

CHAPTER TWO.

GRANDMOTHER Norris settled herself comfortably in the arm chair where Mr. Stanley had been so out of place. Grandmother was not out of place. Sally felt that she might always have been there. "I learned of my son's death in the paper," the old lady explained in a sprightly tone. "I couldn't come right on as I was selling the farm."

"It's sold now and I have the down payment of $200 in my purse. It will last us a few days until they send the rest. We'll have a good time spending $4000, you and I." Her eyes twinkled merrily. "A good time?" Sally's tone said, "What, pray, is a good time?" "For 50 years I've been tied to that farm," her grandmother went on. "I'm 70 and I must work fast if I get all the things done that I've planned."

"When I saw that your father was gone I said to myself, I said, 'It's fate, that's what it is. Sally is alone and I'm alone. We'll take this $4000 and go on a spree together. She's young, she can teach me to play before it's too late,' I said to myself."

Her voice dwindled dubiously as she regarded her grandchild. "Listen to me run on," she said apologetically, "and here you are grieving for your father. Bless you, child, I supposed you loved him."

"I never thought about it but I suppose I did. It—it seems queer without him."

"Of course it does," sympathetically. "How old are you, child?" "I don't exactly know," she never celebrated birthdays. Let me see—I was 16—

"I know how old you are—you'll be 23 in February. I was there when you were born. Your mother was a dear, sweet thing. What she ever saw in that eccentric son of mine, Grandmother shook her head.

"Tell me about her—grandmother," hesitating shyly over the name. "About your mother—she was an orphan, my mother took her from a home to be her companion. My mother was an invalid, you know. Anyway she said she was an invalid, with a chuckle. 'Lived to be 92.'"

"Well, as I was saying, this sweet pretty Mary was her companion and she didn't have much of a life. I can tell you. I guess that's why she took Augustus. She died when she was six, the poor little thing."

"Did she love me, Gram?" "Hungry."

"Oh, so much, Sally. You made up to her for everything." "I can tell you. I guess that's why she took Augustus. She died when she was six, the poor little thing."

"Then, 'Why haven't I known you, Gram?'"

"You can thank your father for that. After Mary died he simply disappeared. I had him traced for years. I wrote and wrote but he never came back. The my last letter was returned unopened, and I gave it up. He was a queer piece, your father."

THINKING back over the dismal years Sally decided that very likely her grandmother was right although it had never before occurred to her.

"What has he done to you?" the old lady blurted out in the silence. "You're not like any young girl I ever knew. Honestly Sally, you look old and fagged. Have you been overworked?"

"No," honestly. "I never feel anything, Gram."

The old lady made a clucking sound with her tongue. "That's bad," she said, "very bad. What's happened?"

"I WANT CAVIAR, SHRIMP SALAD AND FRENCH PASTRY," SAID GRAM. "CHANGE YOUR DRESS CHILD."

have you done for a good time?" "Why—nothing."

"Who are your friends?" By this time the old lady was becoming suspicious and not a little antagonistic.

"I have no friends except Evelyn," Sally told of Evelyn, her one friend. It was not much of a tale. "And now Evelyn is in Timbuktu or somewhere trying to forget 'Toughy Thorne,' she ended forlornly.

"Mm—do you like to dance?" "I've never danced."

"Oh, no. We never had time." "I see. Who is your favorite movie star?"

"Father and I never went to movies."

"What church do you attend?" "This was fast talking on the proportions of an inquest. State versus Sara Lee Norris."

"We never went to church, Gram. Sunday was no different from any other day."

The old lady nodded sagely. "Well, the good Lord has been watching over you, anyway," she announced. "He sent me to you."

GRAM looked over Sally's dress as very long. The old lady would have scorned it as much too elderly. Everything about the dress was wrong, too wide in the sleeves, too pinched in the waist, too plain in the neck, too infernally black, as Gram put it to herself.

"Well, then, put some powder on your nose and rouge on those pale cheeks," she compromised.

"I haven't any powder, Gram. All right, get your rouge. And if you tell me you haven't a hat—"

Sally actually giggled. It was the first giggle on record. All at once they were both laughing. They laughed until Gram gasped and Sally's eyes swam with tears.

Sally's little broke off in the middle. Utterly unimpressed by her inheritance, she had forgotten it until now.

"Gram," she said in an awed tone. "I'm not poverty-stricken. Mr. Stanley, the lawyer, was here this afternoon. He read the will and father left me half a million."

"Half a million what?" scornfully. "Half a million treatises on chemistry?" She sniffed. "Of all the nasty things to lose your head over, gases, acids, things that crawl in the water."

"Wait, Gram. Father left me half a million dollars. It's invested and everything. Mr. Stanley said something about two or three thousand a month for me. I didn't pay much attention."

"Didn't I tell you?" Gram asked triumphantly, as if proving a disputed point. "Didn't I tell you that my son Augustus was the queerest guy that a well meaning woman ever bore?"

"What'll I do with it, Gram?" The old lady shook her finger under Sally's nose. "You'll spend it," she said emphatically. "And I'll help you. We'll find an apartment with rose colored drapes and pale gray carpet and chromium furniture, the kind of a place no decent woman lives in. Taffeta bedspreads, a shower bath, a mechanical refrigerator."

"We'll buy clothes for you and have your hair fixed and see all the shows and eat at a different place every night and carouse around." She stopped for want of breath.

Sally's cheeks flamed crimson, her eyes shone behind the ridiculous glasses. "I'll get my hat," she said.

"You'd better, because Andy Kay is due about now."

"Andy Kay?" Sally felt no surprise. If Gram had demanded a pumpkin and six mice it would have seemed in keeping. She put on a round felt hat. Its designer had intended it to be worn well off the face and considerably to one side. Sally placed it flat on her head without a glance in the mirror.

"Yes, Andy Kay. I asked him to be here at 7. I told him we would be going out."

A long and very new cab drew up to the curb as Gram and Sally went down the rickety steps of the rooming house. Andy Kay jumped from behind the wheel and opened the door. He smiled broadly at Gram.

"Good evening, Andy," she said. A feeling of excitement obsessed Sally. The soft evening air, the twinkling lights, the whirl of Andy Kay's motor, the fact that she was actually going somewhere. It was decidedly breathtaking.

"Please take us to a quiet place, Andy," Gram ordered. "A place where they have music and a floor show and French pasty on."

DEAR Mr. Culbertson: The following hand, which occurred in a ten-off match, should provide a theme for one of your enlightening newspaper discourses. Practically every person with whom I have discussed this hand has approved of my partner's action in the bidding. I am so certain that I know Culbertson system that I have offered to bet them five to one they are wrong. At the same time I feel like a rose amongst a bunch of thorns. Here is the hand, and you are the doctor:
South, dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

The bidding:
South 1 diamond
4 hearts
West Pass Pass
North Pass
Pass

"Now for the arguments," partner, North, and his color claimed that my four heart jump was a definite "stop bid" showing distribution and no much honor strength. It was their contention that had I bid three hearts North should and would have used a four-five no trump convention. The side of the picture simply was that my partner's one heart might have been a borderline take out and that I couldn't afford passing any bid I made short game. I felt my honor strength was a shade too weak off a partner force in any other suit and therefore adopted the (to me) very strong bid of four hearts.

"In my circle there seems to be an impression that if South opens the bidding with one club, let's say, and North responds with a bid of three hearts, bid by South now is an absolute game force, as in the North position these plays will bid game in their own suit no trump with no further values in their hand. Please straighten them out."

"Yours truly,
R. W. V."

This precise situation was involved in question No. 48 of the national bridge examination. The average player confuses two superficially similar but actually different situations, to wit:

(a) South 1 heart, ♠ spades North, 1 spade.

(b) South 1 heart, North hearts.

In (a) South opened the bidding and therefore presumably had hand with defensive strength. When his partner responded with one spade, a noncommittal one-over-one South was strong enough to say, "I don't care how weak your spade response is; I think there is a good play for game in spades." If South were to raise to only three spades the message would be: "Besides having an opening heart bid, I have very good spade support, so if you have better than a minimum one-over-one response, please go to game in spades."

In sequence (b) it is quite another matter. Again South has opened the bidding with one heart and has shown defensive as well as playing strength. But now it is North's responder, who jumps all the way to game in South's suit. Here North's hand is an unknown quantity. He has not already advertised defensive strength and therefore presumably his raise is distributional and very limited in honor tricks.

To refer to the hand submitted, North's pass was horrible. He had an excellent hand and should not have failed to employ the four-five no trump convention. My correspondent is sustained in all particulars.

IF YOU ASK My OPINION

By MARTHA CARR

Dear Mrs. Carr: My husband and I have five children and have been keeping his uncle (who is slightly out of his mind) for years. Now his mother has come to live with us and she is almost like a child. Just now we are facing a financial loss and feel we cannot possibly take care of both. I should like to know if there is some place or home where the uncle could go? I'll be watching for your reply.

A TROUBLED WIFE. There are, of course, state institutions, where your uncle may be sent, if, after examination by a physician, he is found to be eligible. There are, too, homes for the aged, some of which require an entrance fee, where he may go. As you live out of town, have your doctor tell you what is best to do. He will know of these places and direct you in making arrangements.

Dear Mrs. Carr: I AM 13 AND so is my girl friend. Her parents declare she can't have dates till she is 16. Her mother and father heard about her dancing and wouldn't let her go anywhere for a week. We don't date on week nights and don't neglect our studies. FIZZALUSS.

A girl of 13 is too young to be thinking about individual dates. Perhaps your young friend's parents would not object if she went to the movies or to parties with a group of boys and girls.

Dear Mrs. Carr: CAN YOU PLEASE tell me where I may learn to play a Boy Scout bugle? I would be willing to pay a reasonable amount, or perhaps it would be free. Please put this in the daily paper as soon as possible. M. B. S.

You will no doubt be able to get this information at the St. Louis Boy Scout headquarters in the Chemical Building.

My dear Mrs. Carr: RECENTLY A girl friend of mine asked me if I would be interested in taking sun baths. These treatments are given under a huge light. Ten treatments are given at various intervals. I am not sickly, but would like to know if these would be advisable. Would these treatments tan my skin? Thanking you for your advice. MABEL.

The only one who can or should advise you about this is a good physician. It will not be long before you can take sun baths in the great out-of-doors, where you can get the smartest kind of tan.

Dear Miss Carr: WE HAVE A TOY poodle, female, about 9 months old, for whom we would like to secure a good home. If you will be good enough to publish this, we would be glad to have anyone interested telephone MURPHY 6996.

Dear Mrs. Carr: I READ YOUR helpful suggestions daily and enjoy them very much. Will you tell me if there is a cancer hospital here in St. Louis and if there is free treatment? My father has had a cancer of the head for a year. He has been under the care of doctors, but not improving; in fact, getting worse. He has now spent all he had, so please answer this at once. J. I. B.

The Bernard Free Skin and Cancer Hospital has been established here a number of years. To get in communication with the Social Service department, telephone between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m., on week days only, Jefferson 5863. The hospital is located at 2427 Washington avenue.

Dear Mrs. Carr: I HAVE NOTICED several letters from hard-of-hearing persons in your column in the past few months. Several have evidently been from young people. If they care to write to me, I would enjoy telling them about the Junior Club at the St. Louis League for the Hard-of-Hearing. Just now we are planning our summer activities, and if you have any more inquiries from young people, I wish you'd send them my address. We have several new members who heard of us through your column, and all of them have become regulars at the league since their first visit.

We are planning pictures and hikes for the summer months and if you have a list of places in and near St. Louis to which we could go, I would appreciate your sending it to me. I remember reading of such a list in your column some time ago. Sincerely yours, ANN MARIE RICH, Secretary, Junior Club, St. Louis League for Hard-of-Hearing.

There are 47,000 beauty operators in the United States—which is about 144 for every beauty. "Did you ever see an unhappy horse?" asks Dale Carnegie. "Did you ever see a bird that had the blues? One reason why birds and horses are not unhappy is because they are not trying to impress other birds and other horses."

We have seen horses trying to make an impression—with a well-directed hoof. Or an impetuous bite. But that is not what worries us about Mr. Picklepus's reasoning. He implies that humans would be happy if they did not try to impress other humans. If humans didn't try to impress other humans, how would they win friends and influence people? It is all very confusing.

Be that as it may, the recession is terrible in some sections. In fact, they're merging dog acts with flea circuses to cut down overhead. Film studio will make a picture called "Traffic." There are a lot of Hollywood directors who ought to direct "Traffic."

Eye Troubles Of Age Differ From Youth's

Lens Elasticity Decreases — Inexpensive Glasses Usually Harmless.

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

A WOMAN writes me to ask whether inexpensive glasses, costing about a dollar, will harm her and her husband's eyes. They are both about 48 years old. She says that she feels she cannot afford expensive glasses and bought these at a department store.

This is a very interesting and important question. It is unfortunate that the economic situation has to enter into it, but since it does I think a sensible reply is that in fact, when properly used, glasses of about $1.00 are becoming blurred on account of age, no harm will come from the use of the inexpensive glasses. The eye disability of old age is entirely different from that of younger people and does not necessarily require such careful examination and fitting.

Presbyopia, or hardening of the lens in middle age, results in inability to do close reading or close work of any kind. It is simply due to the fact that the lens of the eye no longer is elastic and cannot be made to focus on near objects. As time goes on, stronger and stronger glasses are needed, but there is no reason why these glasses need cost a great deal of money and, in fact, I am quite convinced that any glasses which allow a person in this condition to read and do close work, will do no harm. An indication of this is the fact that old people who have mislaid their glasses, often borrow those of others of about the same age and even after using them for an hour or two, do not have a headache or evidence of eye strain.

There is certainly no reason why expensive frames need be used for these glasses because they usually have to be discarded within a year or more, until the eyes finally get set at about the age of 55. In view of the economic problem involved here, I really believe in every community some charitable person or organization should offer to collect the old spectacle frames and the old lenses that people from the age of 45 on are discarding, so that they may be used by others who are not fortunate enough in this world's goods to procure proper ones.

Clarifying Fat When clarifying fat to make soap, use a saucepan which will hold more than twice as much as the fat you wish to clarify and put the fat in it to melt. Add more cold water than you have fat and bring to a boil. Boil hard for five minutes and then set aside to harden. Sometimes this must be done twice before the fat is perfectly clean.

A pinch of baking powder added to the bread or rice pudding eliminates all possibility of the pudding being heavy.

coming up when he reached home, his shoes, which had about killed his feet, in hand for the last several blocks. Ty said he has thought since that it would have been a good idea if he had gone on to casting directors, with shoes in hand, because he had never aroused so much attention and curiosity as he did trudging across New York at that hour. Nothing came of the party—except a good many blisters on his feet.

Helen Mencken, well-known stage actress with whom Tyrone appeared in the Shakespeare company, came to his rescue. She sent a laudatory note to Katherine Cornell, who was then appearing in "Flowers of the Forest." Tyrone was assigned to understudy two players. One was Burgess Meredith, the leading man who played opposite Miss Cornell. Ty didn't appear in either role during the season, but he spent his time in observing and absorbing the work and the technique of the artists in the cast.

At the close of the season, Ty played in summer stock in West Falmouth, Mass. In his pocket was a contract to play the role of Benvenuto, friend of Romeo, in Miss lywood's best tradition, later played a supporting role with Tyrone in "In Old Chicago."

But that is getting ahead of the story somewhat. Universal dropped Tyrone at the "option period" and he left for Chicago when another film spot failed to turn up.

In the Windy City, Ty called at radio station after radio station in search of a spot when the theater failed to yield a role. But at each station, he usually ran into the same story.

"I'm sorry," the handsome youth was told, "but the part has been filled." When he asked who got the role, Ty usually discovered it was Don Ameche, whose career in many ways has paralleled his own. Later he and Don were to test for the same film roles in picture after picture. Don was tested for the role in "Loyals of London," but Zanuck needed him in another show that went before the cameras first, and the part was won by young Power.

After playing in several radio skits and a stage role in "Romance" with Eugene Lonotvitch at the Blackstone Theater, which had an eight weeks' run, Tyrone left for New York to try his luck on Broadway.

ALLOWING himself $5 a week on which to live while he tried to make his face familiar to casting directors by using the simple expedient of wearing out as many chairs as possible in these offices, Tyrone searched for a job. A steady diet of beans, although monotonous, was essential considering his meager budget, until a friend of his late father's gave him a room, rent free. It was while living here that Tyrone went broke.

He was invited to a swanky party and though it was a good idea to go, since several play producers would be in attendance, Ty, in top hat and tails, spent his last money on a suit and a pair of shoes in some style at last. Too proud to tell anyone that he was broke and needed a ride home, Tyrone started walking back to his room, some 75 blocks away. The sun was just the garden they are not visible. We do not hear them. We wonder where they can be. Then we hear a soft movement, gentle as the movement of downy feathers can be, and there, sitting on a swaying twig, eyes bright with interest, sits the catbird. As we walk along, he or she, whichever happens to be out for recess, acquires a high above the world for miles with an airy flight delightful to feel. One feels birds' presence with a spiritual delight that is sweeter for their unseen presence. And yet, how one welcomes the sight of one riding the topmost twig of a cedar, swaying on a bramble, picking in the lawn!

There are two creatures, much as we like them, who cannot come on our farm or into the garden. The first one is the cat. We thought he might live in the barn and eat the mice, but the swallows and the swifts lived there and he would not let them alone. Even a bell on his collar did not save the birds, so out he went to a good home in the city where there

In Spite of Handicaps

By Dale Carnegie

THIS is the story of a poverty-stricken, sick lad who made a fortune and also made himself one of the most famous writers in the world. The story goes like this:

A gaunt, unshaven, tubercular-looking young man sat at a table in a dive on the New York water front and watched with sad but keen eyes the wretched habitués lining up at the slop bar. Occasionally he jotted a few words in a memorandum book.

"Blast my blinkers," said a dirty, ragged individual as he staggered over to the young man's table. "If it ain't my old chummate Gene! Say, Mattie, you remember me, Tom O'Leary, don'tcha?"

Eugene O'Neill smiled thinly, but kindly, as he pushed his untasted glass of beer toward the unsteady bum.

"Have a drink, Tommy," he invited. "If you need another, Jimmy will charge it on a cake of ice with the rest of my bill."

The tramp gulped down the contents of the glass.

"Thanks, Gene," he acknowledged. "Whatcha doin' writin' in that book, a letter to your gal in Cardiff?"

"Making notes for a play I'm going to write some day."

The man stared blankly and burst into a hoarse chuckle. "You," he said, "you write a play! You'll never live so long. The bugs have gotcha now."

"Maybe you're right, O'Leary," admitted the gaunt young man, smothering a cough with his hand. "But I'm going to try to beat the bugs long enough to finish my play and get it produced."

"Oh yeah!" scoffed the tramp. "Well, if the bugs don't getcha the old devil sea sure will. Some-thin' gets all o' us in time."

And this, mind you, was the local color for Eugene O'Neill's Anna Christie. This masterpiece was written and carried through to completion by this lad so wretched in health that as he worked he wiped flecks of blood from his lips. There was a time when Eugene O'Neill in his discouragement over his physical condition drank too freely.

Through sheer will power, and a little common sense, he licked this weakness. Today Eugene is on the crest of the wave.

He is probably the most famous playwright America ever produced. He has written one masterpiece after another, including Emperor Jones, Desire Under the Elms and Strange Interlude.

You who are handicapped, are you struggling against any greater odds than did Eugene O'Neill at a time when his whole career was yet to be carved?

While visiting down in the beautiful bluegrass country of Kentucky, I discovered that horses get lonely in their box stalls; sometimes so lonely that they won't eat. I was astonished to learn that horse owners frequently have dogs

Are Subsidies Desirable for Big Families?

By Elsie Robinson

"SUBSIDIZED mothers" . . . "bonus babies." How about 'em?

Should Uncle Sam foot the bill for Lil' Precious?

Should we follow the example of Russia, Germany and Italy. . . . earn Parental Pensions by providing our country with Cannon Food?

Or should we stick by the Good Old American Plan and pay for our own Family Trees?

Here's Mrs. Wesley Rounds of Odessa, New York, an American mother plenty mad that anyone should even dream of offering her a Baby Bonus.

"Dear Miss Robinson: My husband and I have been married not quite four years (I'm 23 and he's 28). We have two babies—10 months and 2 years. Even with our full share of sickness, we have made the grade without one bit of government help. Any other young couple can do the same if they are willing to work and live within their means."

"Of course we haven't had every luxury we desired nor have we gone out every night. But on the other hand, our babies are not bonus babies!"

"There's something wrong with anyone who is willing to have his babies branded as bonus babies before they are even born. That type of person wouldn't be apt to have babies who would make desirable citizens."

"Spineless parents are pretty apt to make spineless children. Do we want a spineless America? Haven't we already too many people who are contented to sit back and let someone else support them, without encouraging more by bonuses?"

If a child is taught from birth that he will have a good living whether he exerts himself or not, he'll probably not see the use of working when he is grown. What is going to happen when we all expect help?"

There's a letter which should bring us all up cheering! And here's another to those who complain that we "shouldn't be forced to accept mental labor, just because we are on relief." Introducing Mrs. Lois Blackman of San Jose, Cal., the lady who can take it on the chin!

"Dear Miss Robinson: 'Would I dig ditches if I could get no other employment? I most certainly would, and I'm a woman too! In fact, I've done almost everything but dig ditches."

"I've picked apples and olives on a side hill with grass waist deep and wet from a recent rain, carrying a 12-foot ladder and a canvas bag. I've run a cutting-shed crew of 10 and two shed bosses. I've picked potatoes following a plow. I've worked up wood, sawing and chopping as good as my man helper. I've cut onions, sliding along on the hot sand. I've picked grapes, slinging 125 70-pound boxes in a 10-hour day, and I've picked strawberries—truly no whiteman's job!"

"At the same time I've raised three small boys, done all by own work, made 10 loaves of bread twice a week, washed and ironed and mended, fed the pigs and chickens, and sometimes milked—and loved it all!"

"Would I dig ditches? To feed my boys and myself? Sure I would and for that very reason you've never seen my name on the relief rolls!"

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

by WYNN

Wednesday, May 11.

ONE of those grab-bag days; plenty of good things in it—the problem is to sort 'em out. Be choosy. Skip the emotional novelty; it looks phony. But get finances straightened; pay and collect. Till Monday: make money plans.

Predicting Summer and Winter.

Everyone knows the ways in which all years are alike we can easily forecast the general differences between summer and winter in any year to come. All years are alike as to when the crops grow and when they mature. But each year is different in some way from all other years. That is when we are surprised when we shouldn't be; for it is a matter of understanding nature's cycles.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead looks good if you will be on your toes to take advantage of it. Get out of ruts; develop your original, creative side; and push occupational ambitions. Danger: Aug. 15—Sept. 28; Dec. 29 to Feb. 28, 1939.

Prudence Pevely Cream

WITH SPRING IN THE AIR AND ALL outdoors calling, why not let your refrigerator help prepare your menus while you enjoy the sunshine? The trick is to find dishes that give you the proper nourishment as well as tastiness under this regime and this problem is solved by the liberal use of cream.

If you think this sounds expensive, just study the list of ingredients for the two recipes suggested below. You'll generally find, as in these two, that where cream is used generously you save on butter and eggs. And if you want cream at its best, you'll insist on Pevely Cream.

Try Pevely Cream for this Ham Mousse. The added richness and deliciousness will make the family think you are treating them as special guests. Apple Butter Gingers made with Pevely Cream are ideal for a children's party and still sufficiently intriguing to please your critical bridge enthusiasts.

HAM MOUSSE

2 cups diced boiled ham
1 teaspoon minced onion
1 tablespoon finely cut celery
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
1 cup Pevely Whipping Cream
½ cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon gelatin
1 cup boiling water

Dissolve gelatin in ¼ cup of cold water. Stir in the boiling water and set aside to cool. Combine first four ingredients. Whip cream and blend with the mayonnaise. Add to the ham mixture and fold into the gelatin. Place in a ring mold which has been lightly greased with vegetable oil and allow to set. Turn onto a round platter, fill center with shredded lettuce which has been dredged with French dressing. Garnish with radish roses.

APPLE BUTTER GINGERS

½ cup apple butter
2 cups Pevely Whipping Cream
Ginger snaps

Fold apple butter into one cup cream, whipped. Line round cake with waxed paper. Place ginger snaps on bottom of tin, cover with one-half of apple butter mixture. Place another layer of ginger snaps and again cover with mixture. Cover over with third layer of snaps and top all with whipped cream. Place in refrigerator for 12 hours. Slice as a cake and serve.

IF YOU HAVE NOT RECEIVED MY OTHER recipes featuring Pevely Cream, ask your Pevelyman for them or just phone Prudence Pevely, ORand 4400. Remember, I want to help you with your cooking problems. Just drop me a note. Address, Prudence Pevely, c/o Pevely Dairy Co., Grand and Chouteau.

"I Like This Milk
...It Tastes So Good!"

WE'RE glad you do, young lady. But did you ever stop to think what prompted your Mother to change to Irradiated Homogenized Milk? Maybe it was because this delicious milk tastes better. Perhaps she liked the way it improves recipes in which milk is used. Or it may have been because the Vitamin D content of this milk is greatly increased by irradiation, that valuable process that only Pevely in this area is licensed to use for fresh milk. Maybe your Mother likes to have the cream in milk evenly distributed throughout the milk—homogenization does this—so that the last drop is as flavorful and as rich in food value as the first.

Never have the women of this community received a new milk so enthusiastically as they have Irradiated Homogenized Milk. Thousands upon thousands have changed to this milk since last fall. It makes new and lasting friends every day and is one reason why more women buy from Pevely than from any other dairy.

This seal denotes that Pevely Irradiated Homogenized Milk and the advertising claims made for it are accepted by the American Medical Association, Council on Foods.

This seal shows that the process of irradiation used by Pevely under license and supervision of the Wisconsin Research Foundation is approved by the Good Housekeeping Bureau.

DIANE'S DREAM COMES TRUE
Now She Gets Drip Coffee At Its Best!

GOSH, DIANE!
WHY NOT STOP TRYING TO MAKE
PRIP COFFEE GO BACK TO OUR OLD KIND.

OH DEAR! AND I JUST BOUGHT
ANOTHER PRIPMAKER
HOPING THAT WOULD SOLVE EVERYTHING!

THAT NIGHT DIANE DREAMED—
"YOU'RE JUST THROWING AWAY
PLANS IN THE
COARSE OLD PURPOSE
GRIND!"

IF YOU USE A SPECIAL
DRIP GRIND ACCORDING TO THE DIRECTIONS THAT CAME WITH ME—YOU'VE GET REAL RESULTS!

NEXT MORNING
MR. WATSON, DO
I REALLY NEED A SPECIAL GRIND OF COFFEE FOR DRIPMAKING?

YES, INDEED, MRS.
PARKER. IF YOU WANT
THE BEST RESULTS! MY CUSTOMERS ALL SWEAR
BY FOLGER'S DRIP
GRIND!

YOU SEE... ITS GROUND EXACTLY RIGHT FOR DRIPMAKERS, AND BESIDES...
THIS FOLGER'S IS MOUNTAIN-GROWN. HAS SO MUCH EXTRA FLAVOR
YOU CAN USE 1/4 LESS!

A SAVING!
GIVE ME A CAN, PLEASE!

GEE, HONEY!
THIS IS REAL DRIP
COFFEE—AND NOW!

THANKS TO FOLGER'S
DRIP GRIND!

FOLGER'S DRIP GRIND IS BETTER 2
WAYS FOR ALL OF US DRIPMAKERS!

1. IT'S GROUND SCIENTIFICALLY SO WE GET ALL ITS FLAVOR OUT!
2. IT'S MOUNTAIN-GROWN COFFEE—SO FLAVORFUL
YOU CAN USE 1/4 LESS!
